Five Airmen Arrested for $20,000 Theft

LACHINE, Que. (BUP)—Five airmen were under close arrest today for allegedly embezzling possibly $20,000 by issuing paycheques to fictitious officers at the RCAF transport command base here.

Names of the men, taken into custody last Friday and Saturday, were kept secret. A service board of inquiry took over the case to determine what charges would be laid.

All five were said to be enlisted clerks working in the base accounting department. Details of the swindle were secret. It was learned, however, that the men boosted the amount of their own cheques by small amounts each week and made out other cheques to wing commanders and senior officers who didn't exist.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The air force said today that two civilians and no RCAF personnel were involved in the theft of $10,000 worth of copper wire from its storage warehouse at Downsview, Ont., near Toronto, which is still under construction.

"The results of the investigation were turned over to the North York police. The RCMP have been requested to co-operate in every way. Action is being followed up to recover the copper wire," the air force said.

Defense Counsel Says Sampsons Illegally Held

Duncan Murder Hearing Opens

Special to The Times
DUNCAN—The right to hold a preliminary hearing into the murder of Chew Deb, 81-year-old Chinese resident, three years ago, was challenged this morning in Duncan court house by defense counsel Thomas Hurley.

Hurley is defending Cecil Christopher Sampson, 30 and his wife, Edna, 26, charged jointly with the murder of Deb. He told the court that the treaty signed in 1794 between Great Britain and the U.S.A. made the descendants of aborigines—international citizens, and they still reserve their right to go north or south of the 49th parallel.

On this basis he questioned the right of G. A. Tisdall, police magistrate, to go ahead with the preliminary hearing.

'SHANGHAIED'?

The defendant's counsel asked: "How did the Sampsons get up here? As far as I am concerned they may have been kidnapped up here or shanghaied."

Mr. Hurley told the court that the preliminary hearing "may lead to an international incident" due to the Sampsons being brought to Canada for trial. He told the court the U.S. Secretary of State may intervene.

Magistrate Tisdall ruled that the hearing would continue.

During the morning session, seven witnesses were called by the prosecutor for the Crown, David R. Williams. There are still eight more to be called.

First witness was Dr. J. J. Tassin, who said that he was called to attend Chew Deb. When he arrived at the deceased's shack, half a mile south of the Island Highway, he found the Chinese lying on the ground in a pool of blood. Dr. Tassin said that he was in a very shocked condition and had lacerations to the head and eyes with little pulse and shallow breathing. Chew Deb was then taken by ambulance to King's Daughters' Hospital, where he died July 1, 1950.

Dr. Tassin, who carried out post mortem said that death was due to internal and external injuries, shock and exposure. Chew Deb regained consciousness for only a short while and his only word was "medicine."

J. M. Jones, formerly of the RCMP attached to Duncan, said that he carried out the investigation into the murder of the deceased.

Other witnesses heard during the morning were F. McNab, a friend of the deceased; Constable G. A. Phillips, Constable F. G. Kilner and Constable D. G. Thompson.

Throughout the morning session, the two accused listened carefully to each witness, both sharing the prisoner's box.

Polygamy Non-Existent In Creston Say RCMP

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today residents of Creston, B.C., have been given a clean sheet in connection with reports that polygamy was being practiced in the interior mining town.

A headquarters spokesman said American reports that renegade Mormons were practicing polygamy were false. The official said a thorough check was made.

START AT 8.29?

Five-Minute Loss In Five-Day Week

The majority of civil servants not only get a five-day work week starting Aug. 1, they'll actually be working a shorter week.

Their work week is to be reduced by five minutes. The work week for civil servants is now 36 1/2 hours, spread over 5 1/2 days. In bringing in the five-day week, the government has attempted to retain the same hours but somehow has lost five minutes in the shuffle.

The problem was to make the three hours the civil servants now work on Saturdays fit into the other five work days.

The government has taken care of two and one-half hours by calling the workers in half an hour earlier. It also accounted for another 25 minutes by cutting down lunch time from one hour and 15 minutes to one hour and 10 minutes.

That means employees of the government will be working seven hours and 20 minutes a day, or 36 hours and 40 minutes per week.

Some civil servants are speculating on whether they should make up the extra five minutes by starting at 8.29 each day.

Figger Churchill'll still do a lot more inspirin' than retirin'.

Some aspects o' th' truce is stranger than fiction.

FOUR MORE POLIO CASES REPORTED IN CITY AREA

Four cases of polio and two suspects were reported in Royal Jubilee Hospital isolation today by city, Esquimalt and Saanich health authorities.

Two young women and a young man, all married, are from the Belmont naval housing subdivision, bringing the total from the subdivision to five. They are confirmed cases.

A 2 1/2-year-old Esquimalt boy is reported as a mild case. A young man, also from Esquimalt, has been admitted to isolation as a suspect.

Also listed as a suspect is an eight-year-old boy from Sidney.

The total for Saanich to date is eight. City cases stand at two and Esquimalt one. These figures do not include "suspects" or "probables," only confirmed cases.

Individual homes are quarantined.

SCORES ARRESTED FOR TAKING FOOD

Communists Seek to Scare East Germans Away From U.S. Relief; Red Purge Reported

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police arrested scores of East Germans who accepted gifts of Western food today but they failed to check the hungry throngs surging through the Iron Curtain.

The biggest crowds yet jammed West Berlin's food relief centres on the third day of the big American-financed relief program which has put the spotlight on food shortages in the restive Soviet occupation zone.

The Communists also harassed but did not halt the movement of food to West Berlin by truck. Other food arrived by plane.

114 Operators Agree on Pay Award to IWA

VANCOUVER (CP)—Acceptance of a conciliation board award calling for a wage increase for 32,000 B.C. coast woodworkers was announced today by 114 of the 158 operators represented by Forest Industrial Relations Ltd.

Agreement by the majority of operators follows acceptance by the International Woodworkers of America, CIO-CCL, in a vote completed last week. Basic rate under the proposed new agreement would be $1.49 hourly, an increase of 14 cents.

The award was accepted in all details excepting the recommended wage increase by 33 other companies employing about 1,750 men.

John M. Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, indicated these companies, mostly marginal operators, would seek further negotiations under terms of the majority conciliation award.

Quebec Liberal Wins By Acclamation

OTTAWA (CP)—Lionel Bertrand, Liberal candidate in Terrebonne, Que., today was declared elected by acclamation when his only rival for the general election of Aug. 10, Philippe Beauchamp, Progressive Conservative, formally withdrew.

It was the first acclamation in a general federal election since 1930.

A vast widening in the purge of the rebellion-beset Communist party in East Germany was reported today by the West Berlin press.

The Socialist newspaper Telegraf, reported that 200 special commissions have been set up to investigate the conduct of all party members during the June rebellion.

Another West Berlin paper, Der Tag, reported that 30 high officials in the secret police have been arrested since that group's chief, Wilhelm Zaisser, was kicked out of his job last week.

The paper added that one secret police official in Erfurt committed suicide to avoid arrest.

The Communist press published for the first time an address last week-end by East German Premier Otto Grotewohl in which he backhandedly revealed the great extent of the June riots, in which hundreds were killed and thousands arrested.

Denying the majority of the East Germans rose against his government, Grotewohl insisted "only" 272 communities were in revolt.

'BRUCH... OMITTED PURPOSELY'

Pastor's Pamphlet Prompts Heckling at Sacred Meeting

A pamphlet circulated by a Victoria minister calling for support of the Social Credit party by religious leaders sparked the first explosion Tuesday night in a hitherto quiet federal election campaign here.

The pamphlet, authored by Rev. J. W. Ruthven, was questioned from the floor of a Sacred election meeting at Oak Bay. Platform speakers were B.C. Attorney-General R. W. Bonner, Mines, Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers, and Victoria federal candidate, Waldo Skillings.

Raising the question of the pamphlet from the floor of the 200-person meeting were Bruce Young, local editor of a farm publication and city businessman, Frank Partridge.

Asked by Mr. Young whether he agreed with the contention of the pamphlet that only the Sacred have "Godly" candidates, Mr. Skillings replied:

"I read the article. As long as we have free press, free religion and free speech it is the prerogative of any person to express himself in print and I don't feel I should criticize."

"Does he repudiate it or not?" cried Mr. Partridge to chairman Arthur Knapp.

"Why should I repudiate any sincere statement by any person?" returned Mr. Skillings.

High Post For Eden?

LONDON (AP)—A high government leader said today that Prime Minister Churchill is nearing the end of his political career.

The 78-year-old prime minister became exhausted from the burden of his duties a month ago and has been resting since under doctor's orders.

The same informant strongly hinted that Anthony Eden, now recuperating from three operations, will fill some post other than that of foreign secretary when he returns to duty this fall.

Without elaboration the informant said he did not know what Eden would be doing but he would be "in a very important post."

The immediate guess was that Eden, as deputy prime minister, will relieve Churchill of some of the details of the latter's office and that someone else will be named foreign secretary.

According to the informant, there is a cabinet reshuffle in the wind with the government promoting a few younger Conservatives in the House of Commons.

What are the prospects of a general election this fall?

Almost none, the source said. "The government has a lot of work it wants to get finished," he explained.

Howe Praises National Economy

Trade Minister Claims Liberals Proved Ability to Give Continuing Prosperity

Canada's economic position has never been better, Trade and Commerce Minister Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe told an audience of more than 300 at a Liberal rally at Club Sirocco Tuesday night.

Productivity, employment and wages are at an all-time peak; things are on the upswing, and the picture for the future has never been rosier, the veteran cabinet minister proclaimed.

Mr. Howe, who called himself "no campaign orator," talked for little more than half an hour. Speaking forcefully but without flourish, he said: "All I claim for the Liberal party is that we've demonstrated an ability to make Canada prosperous and keep Canada prosperous."

"I'm very proud of the fact that each year I've been in the government, each year has been a better year—a more prosperous one—than the previous one. And that's all the promise the Liberal party makes to you now—that each member will do his utmost to make every year a better year than the one which preceded it."

Mr. Howe dealt largely with charges and boasts of the Progressive Conservative party. He dealt with main criticisms categorically.

He answered those who speak of depression by pointing out total value of Canada's production last year came to a new peak of $23,000,000,000. Estimates for this year, he said, indicated the value of everything produced would hit $24,000,000,000 despite lower prices for some metals.

He said farming, mining, fishing and lumbering were still healthy industries and the returns from these "very satisfactory."

Rebutting charges that Canada's position as a trading nation was shaky, he pointed with pride to the fact that Canada was the third biggest trading nation in the world, standing only below the vastly-populated United States and United Kingdom.

Last year, he noted, Canada did $4,400,000,000 worth of export business while capital investment in this country hit a new high as well.

He acknowledged there were some difficulties when it came to trading with Commonwealth countries, but argued figures belied the claim that Canada's traditional markets were lost. Last year, he said, Canada's business with the UK and Commonwealth nations was just under $1,000,000,000.

Mr. Howe explained: "The old multi-lateral system of trading which we used to know has broken down. It's necessary now to balance trade (Continued on Page 16)"

Taft's Condition 'Somewhat Improved'

NEW YORK (UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft was reported "somewhat improved" today after eating a good breakfast at New York hospital.

The Ohio Republican who was reported in unsatisfactory condition Tuesday "had a more restful night," his physician reported.

Members of the Taft family were summoned to the senator's bedside as his condition, following abdominal surgery July 8, took a turn for the worse Tuesday. One of his sons, William Howard Taft III, was summoned from Ireland today to join his mother and brothers at the hospital.

FROM THE HUSTINGS

"A really effective party machine could elect a dead cat."—Maj. A. H. Jukes, Ind. candidate for Victoria.

"The only barriers George Drew will ever break down are the sound barriers."—L. B. Pearson, quoted by C. D. Howe.

PASTOR'S PAMPHLET

"Then has Alberta the only Godly government?" queried Mr. Young.

"I do not think we should get into a religious discussion to-night," answered the candidate.

"That's the old stuff . . .," called Mr. Partridge. He had difficulty making himself heard over a chorus of boos and anti-healing comment.

Referring to the statement in the circular that four Victoria and Saanich Sacred provincial members are "all Christians," Mr. Partridge charged that the name of Esquimalt MLA Herbert Bruch was omitted purposely. " . . . because he is a Roman Catholic and Rev. Ruthven admitted it."

The audience uproar was halted by the chairman who closed the meeting after the demand by a member of the audience that Mr. Partridge be thrown out.

The three speakers (r) had skirted around religion in politics or the also contentious subject of monetary reform.

Mr. Skillings stated that he is receiving criticism " . . . because I am honest enough to say I do not yet understand all the basic philosophy of the party. Can you stop a Liberal or CCFer on the street and hear him explain his party's theories?"

Huron's CO Faces Routine Court Martial

OTTAWA (BUP)—The navy announced Tuesday the commanding officer of the destroyer Huron and two other officers would face court-martial proceedings arising out of the grounding of the ship off Korea.

The Huron, one of three Canadian destroyers serving with the United Nations fleet, ran aground near a friendly island off the east coast of North Korea July 12, necessitating repairs which are expected to take seven weeks.

The navy said the court martial was routine following any incident of the nature of the Huron's grounding.

Cmdr. R. C. Chenoweth of Montreal, commanding officer of the Huron, and Lieut.-Cmdr. T. J. Thomas, Dartmouth, N.S., and Lieut. G. H. Emerson of Bathurst, N.B., are being flown back to face the court martial.

The nature of the charges against them will be decided after studying evidence.

Cuba Denies Martial Law Being Imposed

HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—The government denied today it had imposed martial law following a revolt Sunday in eastern Cuba which left a toll of 69 dead and about 30 wounded.

At the same time, Cuban newspapers appealed to the government to lift the pre-publication censorship imposed on all newspapers and magazines in the wake of the attack on two army garrisons in Oriente Province.

A brief he had presented to Ottawa last year asking assistance to B.C. forest management and protection was the basis of Lands Minister Somers' speech.

He said that the province will only be able to provide $3,500,000 for protection and management of provincial forests this year whereas necessary expenditures to ensure the future of the industry should be more than twice as great.

He pointed out that earlier B.C. governments did not push the matter " . . . because they were just little Liberals under the jurisdiction of the federal boys."

Attorney General Bonner forecast, "Wherever there is a clear alternative to the Liberal party, that candidate will get the support of the voters."

"No government that is prepared to stand on its record would call an election in the holiday season," he remarked.

"The (the Liberals) are not standing on their record; they are standing in front of it," he jeered.

"In Victoria you can either vote for a representative of a party in Ottawa or vote for Waldo here to represent you in Ottawa," he stated.

"B.C. is the highest taxed province in the whole of Canada," said Mr. Bonner.

He stressed the need of roads and railway lines in the province, to the extent of $200,000,000 in the near future.

"There is only $41,000,000 scheduled for public works in B.C. by the province, he disclosed and added that the federal government is morally obligated to give assistance.

He called Waldo Skillings " . . . one of the strongest candidates you can find in the West."

Right or Left Turn Indicated for Italy

ROME (UP)—Italy's middle-of-the-road leaders opened a desperate campaign to keep the country from drifting too far to the left or right following the fall of Premier Alcide De Gasperi.

The country was in its worst crisis since the war and had no idea who the next premier would be or how long he could stay in power even if he managed to win approval of the badly divided parliament.

As the largest single party in the Italian parliament, De Gasperi's Christian Democrats still are expected to provide the next premier.

De Gasperi at 72 is tired and probably relieved to be stepping out of the dilemma. He probably will be asked eventually to return to the scene and try to form a government but he's not expected to do so until others have tried and failed.

A headquarters spokesman said that with "Operation Camargue" 300 miles south of Hanoi rebels believed trapped inside an encircled "death square" were believed to have escaped a powerful French union force today.

U.K. Would Welcome Top Conference

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's top deputies told Parliament today Britain still wants high-level four-power talks with Russia. They denied this conflicts with U.S. administration views.

Security Theme Of St. Laurent

Canada Not Ready for Any Big Cut in Defense Spending Says PM

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has pitched his latest appeal for Ontario's vote on a "security first" theme.

In contrast to the Progressive Conservative promise to reduce defense expenditures by 10 per cent, or $250,000,000 a year, he maintained that Canada is not yet strong enough to make drastic reductions in defense spending without endangering her military power.

He kept hammering home at that argument Tuesday, in a whirlwind tour of six southwestern Ontario centres—Norwich, Tilsonburg, Aylmer, St. Thomas, St. Mary's and Stratford.

Today he swings to the Niagara Peninsula, visiting Dunnville, Welland and St. Catharines.

"Don't look to us for any 10 per cent reduction immediately," he told an outdoor gathering of about 700 persons at the St. Thomas park Tuesday. Canada would be "betraying" her allies if she made such a cut at a time when she expected them to continue their defense build-up and they expected Canada to continue her's.

"We are not going to stop building up our strength under the North Atlantic alliance and we are not going to consent to have our associates stop building up their strength until we have something better than a Korean truce," he said.

DREW ON TRADE
HAMILTON (CP)—A "tougher" trade policy with the United States is promised if the Progressive Conservatives win the federal election Aug. 10.

Hon. George Drew, the party's leader, told a meeting here Tuesday night on his final swing through populous southwestern Ontario that the United States accepts Canadian products only when it finds this convenient.

"I do not intend to deal with the United States except on terms of equality," he declared before an audience of 1,100.

The Liberal government was not taking stern enough measures.

U.S. Adopts Tough Policy Says U.K. Paper

LONDON (UP)—The London Times said today that the United States press conference by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has indicated it will refuse to negotiate any outstanding issues in the forthcoming Korean political conference.

The Times report of Dulles' conference said: "Mr. Dulles seemed at pains to make it clear that the administration, having achieved the truce, was determined to show the American people, and Congress in particular, that the phase of concessions now was over."

The Times said that Dulles' remarks may have been motivated by the political necessity to forestall congressional criticisms that the truce represented appeasement.

But it warned that it may be a formal indication that the U.S. will refuse to negotiate on the outstanding issues.

"Some marked surprise was expressed here at the strength of Mr. Dulles' remarks and the unilateral announcement of the American attitude to the talks."

They seem to confirm certain indications here that the United States is planning to play a somewhat lone hand at the talks, in conjunction with other countries that have troops in the fighting.

HOT WEATHER SEES NO LULL IN PRAIRIE POLIO

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—Hot and humid weather which continued to dominate the prairies today dashed hopes for any immediate lull in western Canada's serious polio outbreak.

The disease was exacting its heaviest toll in Manitoba, where sunshine and sultry heat provided ideal conditions for a major flare-up. The province's 1953 polio epidemic already has affected 324 persons, killing six of them.

"There is no indication yet of any let-up in the epidemic," deputy provincial health minister Dr. M. R. Elliott said. Alberta health officials reported 65 cases, including two deaths, but the other western provinces reported little signs of the disease increasing rapidly.

The western Canada total so far in 1953 was 644 cases and 21 deaths.

Secret Meeting Held On Quebec Murders

Authorities Clamp Down on News of Slayings Of U.S. 3 Bear Hunters and Storekeeper

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Authorities clamped down on news of the Gaspé and New Richmond mysteries today as top officials of the attorney-general's department held a secret conference to study all available information.

Solicitor General Antoine Rivard called officials of his department and high provincial police officers into a meeting in his office. None of them would comment and Rivard himself said no news about the conference would be released.

The top-level session apparently was called in an effort to sift scattered clues to the slaying of three hunters from Hollisburg, Pa., near the eastern tip of Gaspé peninsula, and of the fatal bludgeoning of a storekeeper at New Richmond.

Relatives of the slain hunters—Eugene H. Lindsey, 45; his son, Richard, 17; and Alfred Clair, 20—were at Gaspé meanwhile preparing to return home with the victims' mutilated remains.

A coroner's inquest found that Richard Lindsey and Clair had been shot to death. Only part of the elder Lindsey's remains were found and the coroner's jury was unable to establish the cause of his death.

Reparations to Jews Reach $2 Billion
BONN (AP)—The West German Bundestag (lower House of Parliament) today approved a restitution law for the payment of about $952,000,000 to several hundred thousand persons, mostly Jews, persecuted by the Nazis.

The measure now goes to the Bundesrat (upper House) for final approval.

With the passage of this law, West Germany will have promised to pay $2,142,000,000 in compensation to victims of Nazi persecution.

Windsor Mayor Backs Demands of Truckers

HAMILTON, Ont. (BUP)—Striking western Ontario truck drivers said today they would hold out as long as necessary to win demands on 36 transport companies and the mayor of one of the cities hit by the 11-day walkout agreed they should be given more pay.

Mayor Arthur Reaume of Windsor said in a wire to Premier Leslie Frost that the 1,500 drivers "are not receiving an adequate wage" and requested Ontario government intervention to effect a settlement.

Reaume's plea for peace on the highways came as more violence was reported in the strike. Operators of London Forwarders said 58 tires had been slashed on trucks in the company's yards and posted a $500 reward for information leading to a conviction.

An around-the-clock armed watch was put into effect at the yards.

James Hoffa, international vice-president of the striking AFL Teamster's Union, said the men would remain on strike unless granted wage boosts of 22 cents an hour for city drivers, retroactive to Jan. 1, and 20 cents for highway drivers.

The pocketbook contained identifying papers but Lindsey's money, believed to have totaled about $700, was gone.

At New Richmond, 160 miles southwest of Gaspé, provincial police continued to search for two men believed to have clubbed Edgar Audet to death last Thursday. They escaped in a 1949 automobile after robbing Audet's agricultural co-operative store of about $30.

Nobody knew for sure whether the slaying of the hunters and of Audet were committed by the same persons. Police on the scene indicated they were seeking such a connection, but officials here insisted the cases were not related.

It was believed here that results of the police investigation so far would be submitted to Premier Maurice Duplessis at his weekly cabinet meeting later today. Duplessis also holds the portfolio of attorney general.

A Plan For Inflation

MR. DREW SAYS THAT THE St. Laurent government's "reckless spending and inflationary policies" have cut the real value of bonds to "less than half what was put into them in the early part of the war." He means that the Canadian dollar today will purchase only about half what it would purchase before the great inflation.

That is true. But if it is the result of the Canadian government's policies why have all nations, with the possible exception of the United States, suffered more from inflation than Canada?

Inflationary money was issued by all governments to pay for the war because they could not collect enough sound money in taxes. When this money rushed into the market after the war, demanding scarce goods, prices rose. There was far more money than goods (despite the interesting hallucinations of Mr. Eric Martin, who says there has always been insufficient money in circulation). Canada suffered from a worldwide inflation which no Canadian government could possibly control.

However, the Canadian government tackled this problem more courageously than any other democratic government anywhere and by the beginning of this year could say that the inflation had largely run its course.

Government spending is usually the root cause of inflation. The expenditures of the state are simply a demand for goods and, by competing with the private buyer's demands, they tend to raise prices.

If the state collects more money in taxes than it spends and thus limits the private buyer's purchases, it can dampen down the total demand for goods.

That was the intention and the result of the Canadian government's budgetary surplus up to last year when (though Mr. Drew has failed to note it) there was no surplus. Mr. Drew has always deplored the surplus as "over-taxation" when it was in fact a primary and successful weapon against inflation. He condemns the government's supposed inflationary policy but attacks its actual policies of deflation.

If Mr. Drew were now advocating a policy of reduced government expenditures he would be quite logical so far as inflation is concerned. A reduced state demand for goods would ease the upward pressure on prices. Actually, Mr. Drew is advocating a vast increase in the spending of the state.

He promises to cut the national budget immediately by half a billion dollars, but against that he promises a health insurance scheme costing about six hundred millions, subsidies to farmers of huge but incalculable cost, more money for provincial governments and many other things which must result either in a heavy tax increase or a deficit in the budget.

Nothing could be more inflationary than a deficit since it would mean that the state, while demanding more goods, would not pay for them in taxes but in borrowed money. The resulting increase in the national debt would expand the total money supply without expanding the production of goods.

It is difficult to imagine anything more inflationary than the array of contradictory promises and garbled figures which Mr. Drew is now laying before the public and calling a plan of economy.

'Viewpoint Ahead'

MOTORISTS vacationing in many parts of British Columbia pause frequently in their drives to admire the scenes indicated by roadside markers bearing the legend "Viewpoint ahead."

Invariably the scenery justifies the halt. The vistas are superb. They are also almost invariably unidentified. A driver and his passengers stop, leave the car, stretch their legs, look at the country and resume their journeys wondering what they have seen.

Surely a little co-ordinated effort could produce a pointer system which would inform the traveler of the identity of mountains, hills, canyons, streams and rivers. And surely the cost would be justified.

Road maps conventionally carry the names of major waterways and outstanding peaks. The landmarks are indicated on the folders, but are not always discernible from the highway, or if discernible, are not distinguishable to the average tourist. A more definite roadside identification would add immeasurably to the enjoyment of the traveler who not only wants to see, but to know what he has seen.

Where the Money Is

MR. COLDWELL ADVOCATES in the present election a socialistic system of society which the Canadian people have no intention of accepting. At least he is too honest to make promises mathematically absurd. He proposes a vast expansion of the state's expenditures but he does not pretend that they will not involve corresponding taxes. Unlike the Conservative party and Social Credit, he does not say that he can spend more and tax less.

"The CCF," says Mr. Coldwell, "does not promise, as some other parties are promising, that big reductions can be made in the total amount of taxes now being collected." Even if all waste is eliminated, he admits, "no government, be it CCF, Liberal, Conservative or any other will be able to reduce over-all taxes very much. Candidates and parties who campaign on that basis are attempting to mislead the electorate. In my opinion the promise of the Conservatives to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year is the most dishonest political promise that has been made in this country since Social Credit promised everyone in Alberta $25 a month."

It is perfectly clear from Mr. Coldwell's program of vastly expanded social services and huge subsidies to agriculture that the CCF would end by greatly increasing the government's expenditures and hence its taxes. How, then, is this new burden to be borne?

Mr. Coldwell has a simple answer. He would soak the rich.

"The CCF," he says, "urges a shift in the burden of taxation, from the low income groups to the high income groups—to those who are best able to pay." He would raise the exemption levels in the case of income taxes, abolish sales taxes on the necessities of life, increase income taxes on higher incomes and on corporations, tax excess profits and capital gains.

Here Mr. Coldwell is guilty of the same lack of candor which he condemns in the Conservative and Social Credit parties. For if he will examine the distribution of Canada's total income he will see that even if he confiscated all the income of the higher brackets he still would not collect anything like enough money to counterbalance the loss of revenue from the lower groups, much less to pay for his proposed expansion of state services. Mathematics deny his claims as surely as they make nonsense of Mr. Drew's policy and the Social Credit plan to create more money out of thin air.

It is certain also that Mr. Coldwell's program would destroy the competitive system of enterprise which has given Canada the second highest living standard in the world. But this does not worry the CCF. Its whole policy from the beginning has been based upon the assumption that the existing system is evil, that competition is destructive and that the state alone is capable of managing the entire economy.

This at any rate is a clear issue on which the electors can pronounce. Mr. Coldwell does not promise something for nothing as the other opposition parties do.

Dream Car and the Dream Driver

ACCORDING TO A RECENT scientific report, research experts are now working on the model of a car which may lift the hazards from driving. Through the magic of electronics they hope to perfect an automobile which will steer itself along a prescribed route, stop itself when it approaches a metal obstacle, and turn out of its own lane to pass a slower car.

If the model reaches the stage of practical production, the owner of the future may, in the reporter's words, "zoom along a super-highway on a foggy day watching a television show and with nothing to worry about but the cool drink in your hand."

That may be a dream of the future. As such it is acceptable enough. The difficulty arises from the fact that too many car drivers today assume the attributes of the dream car to be standard equipment in the model they drive. The problem for safety experts, it appears, is to convince the unsafe driver that he doesn't yet possess the electronic devices that overcome the hazards of driving. Awaiting the scientific developments, the safety expert still has to appeal to the motorist to use common sense until something better comes along.

Once There Were Three Cannibals—

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IT WAS reported in the press, two or three weeks ago, that British sporting writers gave Ben Hogan a somewhat unsporting welcome when he arrived to compete in the British Open.

Open... which of course he later won with wonderful scores and in spite of being ill. I don't know why the worst British papers are the only ones that receive much attention on this continent. I suppose untypical bad taste is always more quotable than typical good taste. And the traffic in quotations works both ways across the Atlantic, of course, with the British reading most of their American scandal in quotations from various New York and Chicago journals that wouldn't even get onto the doorstep of a polite American home.

And that's a great pity, and a danger, in these days when British and Americans had better accept each other. (Who was the woman who said she accepted the universe? Anyhow, it was Carlyle who said grimly "She'd better!")

I SUPPOSE Henry Longhurst of the Sunday Times and Bernard Darwin of Country Life (and now of The Spectator too) are far and away the leading golf writers of Britain. Partly because they know how to write, as well as how to play and watch golf, and partly because they have souls. No nasty crack from either of these has ever been printed, and these are the blokes that matter, because they are the ones who are read by the English golfer. I've not had a chance yet to read what they said about Hogan's victory, though I know in advance it will be handsome, enthusiastic, and highly readable. But I read what Darwin said when he heard Hogan was coming.

HE mentioned with approval the gesture of a noble hotel-keeper at Carnoustie who was giving up his own suite to Hogan, since rooms for late entries couldn't be found. He hoped the weather would be ideal for Hogan, whose circulation is said to be affected by cold ever since his accident. He said Hogan would certainly get a warm welcome from everyone. He said this should be Hogan's year, now he is 40. He said that, contrary to popular theory, Americans play uncommonly well on windy courses, whether brought up to it or not. He said Hogan has a fascination not quite given to anyone else. And he justified Hogan for accepting "appearance money" from the promoters of tournaments.

Now, Darwin may be the kindest of writers. But he is also one of the most excited when it comes to competition, and the keenest to see the British win. He is also, I should say, not only a distinguished old gentleman of another age, but in many ways typical of younger and quite undistinguished Englishmen. When you get to know them, I mean. I don't imagine the Daily Mirror's and Daily Expresses and those things are much help in letting us get to know them!

THE REAL STUFF

SPEAKING of the Daily Mirror, in one of the last Leslie Henson shows at the Gaiety Theatre before the war... it was either "Going Greek" or "Running Riot"... there was a wonderful scene where Henson and Fred Emney visited a frightful dive, the sort of place we like to think exists in Limehouse. Determined not to betray any ignorance or excitement about local conditions, they sat at their table and chatted on while any Chinese rushed through the room with hatchets sticking in their skulls, and bodies fell from the ceiling, and so on.

At length an oily little man sidled up to Fred Emney and asked if he would like to buy any filthy pictures. Emney took his cigar out of his mouth, yawned, and said, "Have you got a Daily Mirror?"

Londoners read the Mirror by the million, and diffident housewives pretend they get it only for the maid, but read it anyway. All the same, this little crack at the Mirror brought the house down.

ENCORE

THE other day I was watching some children lying inside a hot tent, instead of getting into the open shade of the trees, or buying themselves with some game on the beach. There were seven or eight children. Between them they had three comic books. All the kids had read the three comics before, but each was impatiently waiting his or her turn to read them again. And again. They made the day seem hotter and sillier, and I went off to cool myself in the sea. I composed a little song, called Da Capo, which instructs the musician to play the music again.

DE CAPO

I read my book of comics
In sunshine or in rain.
And when I reach the story's end
I read it all again.

My parents, they do not object
Because they both agree
There's nothing wrong with comics
...no.
Just something wrong with me.

AMBASSADORIAL HINT

Two recent news items in connection with the Vatican require serious consideration by all Canadian citizens.

One is Mr. St. Laurent's hint at the need for a Canadian ambassador at the Vatican. The other is the report of an Italian cardinal, pro-secretary of the Vatican Congregation of the Holy Office, advocating "restriction of Protestant minorities" in Italy and Spain.

Perhaps Mr. St. Laurent thinks that an ambassador might be needed at the Vatican to plead for Canadian Protestants, or missionaries, in case of their persecution. For what other reason would Canada need an ambassador at the Vatican?

NO EXPENSE

In a letter to the Daily Times of July 23, Mrs. Ethel Seymour asks "Why all this fuss about Her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret?"

Well, no one is compelled to read the articles. But I am sure millions of readers are keenly interested in the romance of this charming young princess and the handsome hero. It is quite probable that Princess Margaret would prefer a simple life to the pomp and ceremony of a palace. Her father, George VI, did, but his strong sense of duty made him sacrifice himself, thereby shortening his life.

As for the statement made in Mrs. Seymour's letter, "the country will not pay her unless she renders service," our Royal Family is no expense to the nation, as King George IV (1762-1830) I think it was (if not his father, George III) turned over immensely valuable properties to Parliament in return for receiving allowances for the Royal Family. By this arrangement the nation was the gainer, as the revenues received were much more than the sums paid to the Royal Family.

As well as her income, Princess Margaret received a large legacy some few years ago, and it is likely she would also be remembered in Queen Mary's will. So she isn't likely to sink into the dire poverty suggestion by the above-mentioned correspondent.

BACKGROUND FACTS

Among the wilder guesses about the private affairs of a public figure, one of the wildest was the assumption that when Princess Margaret had an alleged cold in Rhodesia, this really meant she was unable to cope with her grief. Apparently the writers of these dispatches from London didn't bother to check with Rhodesia.

I have here two recent letters from Rhodesia about the celebrations. The writer says his wife was unable to attend a symphony concert in Bulawayo because she had a terrific cold. It was lucky she stayed home, because the hall was cold as death. "I nearly perished. So did some of the Halle Orchestra. Many of the audience had blankets with them. Barbirolli looked very ill." No suggestion that my friend's wife or Barbirolli were sick with love. They were sick with the cold. Rhodesia is in the middle of a very nasty winter.

The other letter says: "The Royal Party had no idea how cold Rhodesia can get, and were quite inadequately clad. Margaret went down with a heavy cold and dropped out of the tour. In the bush I was mighty glad of my Canadian sleeping bag."

DON'T WASTE THEM

In light of the fact that the next elected government of Canada will most definitely be either a Liberal or Conservative government, it is a shame to contemplate the number of otherwise valuable votes that will be wasted on the two socialist parties, the Socials and the CCF.

Neither of these socialist splinters, any more than the LPP, have the remotest potential in the foreseeable future of ever being elected to govern the people of Canada; so why waste good votes on them?

The Farmers' Party of Ontario, a few years ago, swept into power with a great flourish of trumpets heralding a great "new day" of honest government by the common man. What greater "common man" could there be than the farmer? Away with the Liberals and Conservatives, make room for the honest farmer; the cry was heard everywhere among the innocents of Ontario, at that time, and, strange to say, it worked.

But in due time, the voters of Ontario implored the return of the "old line" parties after they, the voters, came out of the fog long enough to realize that they had put in power the crookedest bunch of political connivers in Ontario's history. So ended "the first lesson" for Ontario, in the debacle of its "new line" party.

Eastern Canada will never go for CCF or Social socialism, so if we, in B.C., wish to make our votes felt in the federal government of Canada, we shall have to vote either Liberal or Conservative on August 10. Otherwise our votes are simply wasted; make no mistake about that.

TAKES ISSUE

Many have read with concern the press report that "Prime Minister St. Laurent says the day will come when Canada will have an ambassador to the Vatican," but that such appointment "cannot be made at this time... because there are still honest Canadians who would interpret this gesture as an insult against their religion." He further stated, "if the matter rested only with my colleagues the appointment could be made."

This declaration from the Prime Minister takes on a serious significance in the light of Associated Press report from Vatican City, of the 24th inst., where we are informed: "Vatican sources say an address of Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, advocating restriction of Protestant minorities, applies to Italy as well as Spain." The cardinal is pro-secretary of the Vatican's congregation of the Holy Office in charge of combatting heresy, and that these pronouncements "reflect the thought of the Holy See."

Then comes this extravagant statement, "So-called tolerance" in the matter of Protestant evangelism in Roman Catholic states, said the cardinal, "must seem out of place in the eyes of true Catholics."

How can Protestants accept the proposal to have an ambassador at the Vatican, when they know that Vatican principles would eliminate all Protestant churches and liberties?

Here are two statements as given by the highest Vatican authorities, which are in exact accord with the present denial of liberty in Italy and Spain:

"It is necessary even in the present day that the Catholic religion shall be held as the only religion of the state, to the exclusion of all other forms of worship." (Syllabus, Pope Pius IX, Art. 77). How can Canadians approve this principle of the "exclusion of all other forms of worship?"

Keeping in mind the report from Vatican City regarding "restriction of Protestant minorities," and "combatting heresy," I draw attention to this second Vatican principle:

"Nevertheless it is a Catholic tenet that the Church may justly inflict on heretics the penalty of death." (See the comparatively recent "Institutions of Public Ecclesiastical Law," published in Rome in 1900 by Pater Marianus de Luca, SJ; bearing commendation and approval of Pope Leo XIII.)

The Prime Minister asked, "But what would be the good of arousing a religious quarrel?" Then, why mention it? Sir, we neither want the "quarrel," nor do we need the Vatican, or desire her principles of intolerance. Therefore, I would urge that we have nothing to do with the suggestion of having an ambassador at the Vatican.

OIL PRICES

The latest gouge by Imperial Oil, obediently and of course regrettably followed by B.A. Shell, et al. should be met with equal apathy which allows these corporations to get away with it.

One notices in the business section of Time Magazine, July 20, under the heading, "Collusion or Costs?" that the oil companies of the U.S.A. tried the same squeeze—but public opinion forced them to take off the increase.

The cost of heating by oil is now more than three times what it was when I was induced to buy an oil burner.

And have you noticed, Mr. Editor, the "heads I win tails you lose" form of contract these oil people press one to sign? Do read one!

It has been suggested that the reason for these incessant increases has little to do with the cost of producing oil, but is due to the vast amounts spent in speculative drilling.

Surely if this be so the cost should be provided by risk-capital and not taken from the pockets of consumers.

Where does the great proportion of the profits made by these oil companies in Canada go? Seek and ye shall find.

Perchance, if the present federal government could be induced to control the ever-increasing exploitation of Canadians by foreign interests its majority in the new government would not be so greatly reduced after all.

ANSWERS OBSERVER

I would like to make a few comments on a letter published in your paper about June 20, signed Observer.

I figure any person who does not have the courage of his own convictions to the extent that he will not publish his name along with his convictions cannot have much faith in his own arguments.

Observer is neither observant or consistent as in his third paragraph he mentions fishermen able to "recover the costs of his equipment and take his ease for the other months of the year," and in his fifth paragraph he lays the trouble in the industry to the "younger come-lately fishermen" who operate on the cuff as he readily admits is the case.

If there is the big money to be made by fishermen Observer would have us believe there is, there would be no need, to buy boats and gear "on the cuff" as he admits is the case.

Also there would not be so many fishing boats carrying full insurance catching fire and burning at sea. Nor would there be as many with "For Sale" signs on them (to meet their owner's mortgages or permit them to change occupations) as you could see at any fisherman's wharf in B.C. last winter.

Observer makes the observation "many older men who have fished for pittance during the hungry 30's would be happy to fish for 18c sockeye."

Well, I do not consider myself as one of the "older men," but I did fish all through the hungry 30's (started in 1929) and fished for pink salmon at 3c each and sockeye at 10c each. What Observer fails to remember (if he is a fisherman, which I doubt) is the number of fish we caught in those days compared to the reduced catches of today, and what your dollar bought in those days compared to today's prices.

In 1933 on the Lake Como IV our production of pink salmon alone was over 100,000 fish and it was quite a common sight to see both seine boats and gillnetters loaded to where they could not hold another fish.

I have also bought chuck roasts, stewing beef, and hamburger at three pounds for a quarter and our house was built in 1929 with mill run ship lap at $9 a thousand. I paid $87 when I built my home in 1930 and everybody knows what meat costs today.

I maintain at our present level of production and the purchasing power of our dollar at our present prices, we are worse off than during the hungry 30's.

DEFECTS
The limbo of the average man and the lack of powers of concentration in the average woman are the defects of inferior training and bad educational methods.

—Arthur Pendery.

Cover Heartbreak With a Smile

MR. Cecil Garriott has been telling the fans that unless they hit a higher average return at the gate, Greater Victoria will have proved it can't support professional baseball. Look Magazine has produced an article stating "Little League Baseball Can Hurt Your Boy!" And I'm having trouble with the Skunk Hollow Ramblers.

You probably haven't heard of the Skunk Hollow Ramblers. Their sport is about as secretive as the bowling of the little men Rip Van Winkle found playing ninepins back in the Catskills. Just the same the Skunk Hollow Ramblers are a highly competitive team. The youngest member of it is president and rule-maker for the Cigarmakers' Bay Amateur League. That's Class Minus-ZZZZ ball.

Teams are composed of two midgets and an adult, owing to manpower shortage. The diamond, including a couple of big cedars that rise behind the pitcher's box and third base respectively, is slightly larger than a fair-sized living room.

Ground rules are fairly complicated and changeable at the whim of the president, who alters them when his team isn't doing so well. They are as confusing to the players as they are to the three spectators.

DEEP TROUBLE

But that isn't the source of my trouble with the Skunk Hollow Ramblers, from which I've been suspended for tossing softies to a small opponent who stands an inch and one-half taller than the bat he tries to swing. My problem is over-emphasis and the will to win.

Since they've been old enough to bop each other in their joint playden, I've been telling the Skunk Hollow Ramblers midgets that any game worth playing is worth playing to win. Be fair, I've told them. Don't pull any sandies. But if you're in a game, give it all you have. Champions, I have explained, were never made out of people who didn't care whether they won or lost.

Two-thirds of the Skunk Hollow Ramblers have responded to that training—but too well. When the little opponent who stands an inch and one-half taller than his bat took hold of one of my bloopers and slashed it through the place where the shortstop would have been if we'd had a shortstop, the winning runs came in from second and third. The Skunk Hollow Ramblers took a beating and two-thirds of the Skunk Hollow Ramblers didn't like it—it didn't like it at all.

THE EXTINGUISHED FIREBALLER

Now it does no good to explain to them that my blooper ball is my natural delivery. It serves no purpose to explain that I'm not ageless like Satch Paige. I'm the guy who let them down. They know it, they say, because I was laughing when the little opponent rapped out his double.

Which goes to show that two-thirds of my team are ready for the next lesson in competitive amateur sport. They've mastered the idea of playing to win. Now they have to learn that when they're licked they must look as if it didn't break their hearts. That's what passes as good sportsmanship.

They need the Pagliacci touch—"Even though it's only make-believing, laugh, clown, laugh. Even though your heart is sorely grieving, laugh, clown, laugh."

Rightly or wrongly, appearances count. Everyone admires a good loser—particularly the person who has beaten him. So give me time, and I'll try to lay the veneer over my team's feelings—which is mild hypocrisy, but socially acceptable.

Comedy Shorts to Return?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The last of the short subjects comedians today predicted a return to the brief comedies that used to be on every movie program.

The sole remaining practitioners of a noble craft—the one-reel and two-reel comedies—are the Three Stooges.

They still are playing the field that gave stardom to Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, Buster Keaton, W. C. Fields, Fatty Arbuckle, Laurel and Hardy and other greats.

Since the deaths of Edgar Kennedy and Leon Errol, the Stooges are the only comics left in shorts series. They now are celebrating their 20th year in shorts by making some 3D subjects.

"Comedy shorts are coming back," observes Moe Howard, the guy in the middle who deals out the knocks to the other two.

"They've got to. The studios are going in for big productions. That means they'll have to round out the theatre program with a news, cartoon and comedy.

"And since so many of the big pictures are dramas, that means they'll need some comedy relief to balance the bill."

The Stooges' comedy is a relief to everyone but themselves. They take a terrific beating. Although Moe generally bops his partners, he is the one who usually gets hurt in the filming. Since he plays the bully, he generally gets his just deserts in some violent manner.

"I cracked up three of my ribs in one scene," says Moe.

"Another time I nearly broke my foot. I was nearly blinded three times—once with lamplight, once with granite dust and another time with mud."

Moe says one of the reasons their comedies have succeeded over the years: "It's the downfall of dignity. The things we do to dignified people is something awful. I think everybody likes to laugh at that."

A record 6,605,000 new outpatients during the year was recorded by Britain's national health service in 1952.

About two-thirds of the marble quarried in Canada is produced in Ontario, the rest in Quebec and British Columbia.

Island Digest

COBBLE HILL—More than 50 organizations and clubs in the Vancouver district have been invited to participate in a summer camp at Elan Centre, Cherry Point, under auspices of the Pacific Region Branch, Canadian Youth Hostels' Association.

Vancouver Island and Puget Sound groups also will be approached. During Aug. 15-30 hostellers from Canada, United States, Europe, Australia and South America will gather at the centre.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Work began today on the filling of 22 miles of road by General Construction Company for the Argonaut Company Ltd. The road leads from Campbell River to the company's Quinam mine, and includes that portion of the government road between Forbes Landing and Camp Eight.

NANAIMO—A conciliation board majority award has recommended that salesmen of Canadian Bakeries, McGavin Bakeries and Weston Bakeries continue to work a six-day week because of competition facing the companies from non-union shops.

Introduction of the five-day work week with the same take-home pay was the only point before the conciliation board.

LANGFORD—Fire Chief Rodney Bayles blamed children for starting a recent grass fire on the highway, extinguished by Langford Volunteer Fire Department.

It had been attributed previously to a carelessly thrown cigarette.

Three calls on the week-end were to a bush fire near Langford Lake, a restaurant chimney fire and a bush fire on Millstream Road.

COURTENAY—Board of School District 71 will write a letter of commendation to Miss Trudean Mounroe of Cumberland, who obtained the second highest scholastic standing in the B.C. matriculation examinations.

The board will also congratulate Cumberland High School principal J. C. Tonks and his staff for their work.

PORT ALBERNI—MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. will open 10,000 acres of land in the Horne Lake area to fish and game association members, it was announced at a meeting between company officials and sportsmen here.

The Horne Lake tract, with a good road system but only one entry, will be opened on a trial basis that will govern the company's future policy on this question.

Minor Figures Caught Up in Russ Purge

LONDON (UP)—The Soviet purge which began with the arrest of police boss Lavrenti Beria apparently was extended today to Byelo Russia and Moldavia.

Moscow announced the ouster of Byelo Russian premier, Alexi Kleschev, and the Moldavian minister of justice, V. M. Bondarenko.

Observers here said the dismissals appear to be part of a wholesale reorganization which began in Russia three weeks ago after the announcement which abruptly reduced Beria from the second most powerful man in Russia to "an enemy of the people."

Premiers and ministers of Soviet republics like Byelo Russia and Moldavia usually are mere figureheads who are much less important than party secretaries in the larger Soviet cities.

Byelo Russia is the third largest republic in the union. Soviet Moldavia comprises a border area which Romanians always have claimed as their own.

Regina Marks 50th Birthday, Population Reaches 71,000

REGINA (CP)—Regina, capital of Saskatchewan and home of the RCMP, this week celebrates its 50th anniversary as a city.

Celebrations held in conjunction with the annual exhibition mark the half-century of progress in which it has grown from a raw frontier town to a green oasis, famous for its tree-lined streets and many parks.

Each night at the current exhibition, a special show portrays some of the main events in the city's history, the granting of a charter, the ruinous 1912 cyclone, the influx of immigrants after the First World War and the depression of the 1930s.

Hewn from thick gumbo of the prairie, Regina has grown from a town of 3,000 population in 1903 to more than 71,000. In the same period, estimated value of buildings has climbed from less than $1,000,000 to $200,000,000.

SEARCH FOR SNAKE

EDMONTON, Alta. (BUP)—Tile company worker Peter Drescher searched gingerly today for a large tropical snake he released—while unpacking crates of tile shipped via the Panama Canal.

Drescher told police he saw the last 12 inches of the reptile slither under some sacks of marble chips. He said the rear end of the snake was about one and one-quarter inches in diameter.

Employees and police carefully lifted the sacks but found no trace of the invader. Cautious workmates, however, believed Drescher when he said he would continue hunting for the snake as he thought it had found a hideaway amid stacks of merchandise in the warehouse.

WHEAT STORAGE LIMITED

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP)—Alberta farmers were told today that country elevator space for this year's rich prairie grain crop would be "very limited" in the fall.

Leonard D. Nesbitt, superintendent of publicity for the Alberta Wheat Pool, said the only alternative of plugging country elevators was for farmers to store more grain on their farms.

He said the total capacity of country elevators in Alberta alone was 100,000,000 bushels, and the latest report of the board of grain commissioners showed that they were holding more than 70,000,000 bushels.

U.S. POLICIES RAPPED

WINNIPEG, Man. (BUP)—United States government policies as they affect Canada's agricultural industry came under critical review today at the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

J. T. McLean, secretary-manager of the federation's Manitoba division, said Canadian farmers were "particularly concerned" over protective barriers maintained by the American government against Canadian farm exports, especially dairy produce.

Delegates to the two-day meeting also will discuss a national agricultural policy for this country.

Other highlights of the agenda included a review of the new international wheat agreement, a report on the recent conference of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers at Rome, and an address by W. J. Ball, vice-president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool.

CROP REPORT

REGINA (CP)—A further slight drop in the condition of the Saskatchewan wheat crop, with the index standing at 148 compared with 150 a week ago, was shown in a crop report issued Tuesday by the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool.

The figure of 148 is 12 points below the 160 shown in the pool report for the same date in 1952.

The estimate is based on 100 representing conditions which could be expected to yield crops equal to the long-term provincial average of 15 bushels to the seeded acre.

Former Seaforth Commander Gets Post

OTTAWA (BUP)—The army announced today that Lt. Col. S. W. Thomson, of Salmon Arm, B.C., commanding officer of the reserve force Rocky Mountain Rangers, will spend at least a year as a member of the United Nations military observer group for India and Pakistan.

Thomson, former officer commanding the Seaforth Highlanders overseas, retired from the regular army in 1945 and became the proprietor of a vacation resort.

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

On the active side of the picture the Tyeys are currently playing their best ball of the season having shown more pep than in the last week than in any other corresponding period. Sixteen home runs were recorded in the week's home stand with Granny Gladstone and Dwayne Helbig carrying the major burden. And with Cec Garriott again ready to assume a regular place in the outfield following a recent siege of illness which curtailed his active participation, the Tyeys can take much heart in the club's contention for second-half honors. The dire need at the moment is pitching help. One good acquisition could turn the trick.

Toll Charges on Way Out

Dial phones are appearing on the walls of homes in the Langford district; but the open-mouthed curiosity about them displayed above by Michael Busby, aged three, won't be satisfied until April 4 next, when they go into operation. For some time the B.C. Telephone Company has been busy on the change-over to the dial system for the Belmont exchange. David Dopp, installer, is seen at work in home of Ross Busby at 131 Grainger Road, Langford, while Michael, Mrs. Busby and Donnie, aged two, look on with interest. When the task, affecting besides Belmont the Colquitz and Albion exchanges, is completed, toll charges for Greater Victoria will be abolished.

Unorganized Area Spokesmen Want New School District, Board

DUNCAN — Representatives from the unorganized areas within School District 65 will seek an interview with Education Minister Tilly Rolston to discuss the possibility of having a new school district created which would allow them to form their own board.

George Bonner of Cobble Hill, George Browlee of Kokilah and Ross Marshall, Shaw-nigan Lake, are making plans for the meeting with the minister, following a meeting earlier this week in which all 12 unorganized area representatives took part.

Mr. Bonner said the unorganized area representatives were "alarmed" because of high costs and the type of education their children were receiving in return. He said general feeling was that the 'unorganized' areas were not getting their money's worth.

SAME CATEGORY
School District 65, as presently constituted, extends from the Malahat Chalet to Crofton. If the unorganized areas seceded, only Duncan and North Cowichan would remain in the district.

"Sooke and Cowichan Lake are unorganized areas which have their own school districts and they seem to make out all right," Mr. Bonner said. "We want to discuss the possibility of being put in the same category."

He said the unorganized area representatives had no quarrel with the district school board but had encountered difficulties with the two municipal councils in the district.

Four U.S. Navy Ships Visit Here

Four United States Navy destroyer-escorts were scheduled to dock at Esquimalt Harbor today for a three-day visit in the course of a naval reserve training cruise.

The ships are U.S.S. Rombach, Thomas F. Nickel, George A. Johnson and Grady. Senior officer is Cmdr. J. S. Burns.

The destroyers carry a complement of 57 officers and 745 men.

Seventy per cent of the world's surface is covered by oceans with an average depth of about two miles.

Haney Farmer Found Dead Near Bulldozer

HANEY, B.C. (CP) — The body of John Van Boeyen, 44, was found Tuesday beside his bulldozer, which apparently overturned and crushed him while he was working on his farm.

OUT FROM UNDER

EDMONTON (CP) — H. M. Miller, drilling a test hole for oil 13 miles west of here, hit a water and sand formation about 50 feet down. Up came an ugly-looking creature about five inches long, identified as a salamander, a small frog-like animal rarely found at such depths.

Religious Prejudice MacBride Tells Heckler

The question of having Canada represented at the Vatican arose Tuesday night at a Liberal election meeting at MacMorran's, Cordova Bay.

A man in the audience shouted to Duncan MacBride, candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich: "I won't vote for a party that intends to send a representative to the Vatican."

"That is religious prejudice," Mr. MacBride retorted.

The candidate said he didn't know of any intention of the party to send a representative to Rome, nor was he certain of what Prime Minister St. Laurent had said on this matter.

Mr. MacBride, in his main address, felt there was considerable apathy abroad with regard to the election.

"Such apathy can lead to the infiltration of Fascists and Communists," he maintained.

He said there should not be criticism of the government because of certain irregularities in army camps. He said the irregularities had been caused by "the human element."

"No matter what government there may be in power there is going to be a certain amount of waste and inefficiency," he said. "If you had armed forces of 200,000 men you would need to have another army of 100,000 to watch and keep check on them if you were going to eliminate waste and inefficiency."

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) —

Harry Blake and Vernon Armstrong of Dance Township spotted a white bear on an island in Rainy Lake. From a distance of only 10 yards, they said, it appeared to be an albino bear, an off-white almost yellow in color.

To 9 Victoria Motorists who have always wanted the blue-sky freedom of a CONVERTIBLE... but couldn't justify the cost

There's a continuing pleasure in driving a convertible that isn't matched by anything else on wheels.

But, 'till now, that has been an expensive pleasure, with practical limitations.

Now Austin has brought practical all-weather convertible motoring into the low-priced field—with a car that is a dream to drive and a thrill to behold.

This new car—the Austin All-Weather Convertible—ranks among the smartest car stylings of 1953.

It has a 3-position top that converts in easy seconds. With the top down and the blue-sky for a roof you feel as though you are driving a wind-driven cloud. When you snap the top into fully closed position you're as snug as a bug in a rug—with an air-conditioning heater that beats the worst weather our winters have to offer. And, with the top in the new continental Coupe de Ville position, you drive around town with every head turning enviously your way.

This new Austin Convertible is built on the famous A-40 chassis—the same basic and brilliant engineering which has slashed operating costs by as much as 50 cents on each dollar for more than 80,000 Canadians.

It is available to you at $2195* completely equipped—if you order now. Because annual production on this model is strictly limited there are only 425 cars available and these have been pre-rated among 300 Austin dealers coast to coast.

So call now for a demonstration. There's a totally new motoring thrill awaiting you.

The Austin Motor Company (Canada) Limited.

Warning Sounded On Football 'Price War'

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Payne, executive vice-president of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, thinks United States and Canadian pro football may be pricing itself right out of business.

Payne, here on a brief visit, said a "price war" for players between the two leagues must be halted by a working agreement before the leagues spend themselves out of existence.

He compared the current "war" between the two leagues to the Mexican League baseball raid of a few years ago. "In this case we are the 'Mexican League,'" said Payne. "We are naturally going out for all the good players we can get."

"However, something should be done quickly to stop the price war."

He said the Bombers, of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, have no financial worries at the moment. So far the team has sold 13,200 season tickets for their new stadium, which seats 15,000.

"To operate a team in pro football the management should figure on a $300,000 budget," Payne said.

"In Winnipeg we don't count on making the playoffs or playing to capacity houses to meet our budget. Once you start doing that you're liable to get into trouble."

Payne nominated Annis Stukus of Vancouver Lions, who'll play in the WIFU in 1954, and Frank Clair of Toronto Argos as the best football coaches in Canada.

"Stukus can get more out of Canadian players than any man in the game. Clair, on the other hand, would be tops in the technical end of the game."

Who was the most ornery coach in the game?

"That would be George Traflet of Blue Bombers," said Payne.

Greet Minister

Hon. C. D. Howe was greeted at Patricia Bay airport by Duncan MacBride, centre, Liberal candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich, and Dr. F. T. Fahey, right, the party's choice for Victoria riding.

between areas. That has limited the type of purchases made in Canada by sterling countries."

He said Commonwealth nations were still buying wheat and lumber but acknowledged they were finding it difficult to purchase canned salmon, apples and certain machinery, things which the sterling nations classify as luxuries.

He stressed that the Liberal government had foreseen the sterling-dollar problem at the end of the war and had taken steps to overcome this difficulty. One thing the government had done, he said, was to send out more than 100 well-trained trade commissioners to find new markets. He said they were the people largely responsible for opening new markets for Canada in Latin America and in Asia.

PEOPLE HAVE HELPED

"Our trade is healthy," Mr. Howe pronounced. "Liberal policy has made it healthy but we do not take all the credit. Canadian people have done a lot by producing goods that can be sold at competitive prices."

"Any worry about the future of our trade is unnecessary," he continued. "The day of convertible currencies isn't too far distant. It won't be in a matter of months; but only a matter of a few years."

He answered the Conservative's charge that Canada's wheat market was being lost by citing the 509,000,000 bushel export figure for the year ending August 1, 1952. When the current wheat-year ends in two days' time, he expected a new export record of 580,000,000 bushels.

He viewed the Conservatives' 14-point campaign platform as unrealistic. He said the first plank called for cutting taxes by $300,000,000 and the following 13 called for new expenditures which Mr. Howe estimated would cost the taxpayers $1,200,000,000.

DEFENSE FIRST

Mr. Howe, who also handles the important job as minister of defense production, defended expenditures for this service, referring to defense as "the first duty of any government."

He acknowledged the threat of Communist aggression in the world seemed to be receding somewhat but said the government wanted to make sure of things before it changed any of its defense policies.

"When we are sure we can cut down on money for defense, it will be reflected immediately in reduced taxes," he promised. "Taxes are only needed to meet current expenditures."

He said the government had only had surpluses because productivity had exceeded the expectations of expert economists.

"GOOD FINANCING"

But, he pointed out, surpluses had been put to good use, retiring national debt, thus saving greatly on service charges.

"I think that was good financing," he said.

Mr. Howe said it was accepted that a Liberal government would be returned Aug. 10 but explained the reason party leaders were campaigning so hard was because they wanted a strong government made up of representatives from every part of the country. Mr. Howe was not in favor of a close balance of power between government and opposition forces.

"You might say that makes for good fun but I doubt if that makes for good government," he asserted.

Mr. Howe said he favored a return to the two-party system of government. He said the reason the opposition in the last Commons was weak because it was divided into three parties.

He was most critical of those in the Social Credit benches. "I think the Social Credit party in parliament is far too big already," he said. "They waste too much time. Let's not have any more of that nonsense."

"Let's send serious people to Ottawa."

Mr. Howe spoke in support of Victoria Liberal candidate Dr. F. T. Fahey. The trade minister was introduced by former B.C. premier Byron Johnson. G. A. A. Hebden was chairman.

5-Day Week For Empress Hotel Employees

Close to 400 persons who work at the Empress Hotel here start a 40-hour work week effective Sept. 1, under terms of a new working agreement for employees of six major CPR hotels, announced Tuesday in Ottawa.

Present work week is 44 hours. The new contract provides that the shorter week will provide the same take-home pay.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) which negotiated the new agreement, says the contract is to run for two years, but provision has been made to allow for wage adjustments after 12 months.

Union officers said the settlement of CPR hotel contracts was made in record time. In former years, each hotel negotiated individually with its employees but this year discussions covering all railway hotels were completed in two weeks at Montreal.

ROUGH GOING

WINNIPEG (CP)—James Anderson, student engineer with Ducks Unlimited, says "bull sessions" are slowing down his survey work. He was attacked by bulls three times in recent weeks, and on the last encounter was thrown head first over a fence.

They are members of a British School Exploring Society expedition, on the way to a two-month bivouac and reconnaissance on the western slopes of the Canadian Rockies. Roughing it under canvas, they will survey previously-unexplored territory, make maps and carry out research studies in biology, botany and geology.

Their leader, Frank Hannell, said the destination, Stuart Lake in the Interior of British Columbia, was chosen "because it is unexplored." The 6,000-mile trip is the society's 21st and most ambitious expedition. Though the first stage of their trip was a prosaic one, they were in exploratory mood already as they climbed aboard their train in London.

Pockets bulged with books, fishing rods were caught on doors, overstuffed knapsacks swung loosely from shoulders, and excitement was in the air.

The explorers will travel army-style by train across Canada, cooking their own rations, policing up their own bare cars.

From Vanderhoof, B.C., Hannell, a Bristol University lecturer in geography, will shepherd them north by truck and boat until they reach Stuart Lake, 380 miles northeast of Vancouver. Their advance party, Navy Commander H. P. Steel, and Capt. R. J. Francis of the Royal Engineers, will be waiting for them there.

During the two-month bivouac, the boys will fan out over the territory in exploration and research projects. Their findings will be carefully recorded and turned over to technical specialists on their return to Britain.

The expedition's lucky members were selected from hundreds of applicants and come from all over Britain. They were chosen on the basis of their ability to fit in and evidence that they would "put the expedition before themselves."

B.C. Sacred Regime A 'Hoax' Says Jukes

Independent Candidate Flays National SC Policy and All Political Parties

The "social credit" government of British Columbia is the greatest political hoax ever perpetrated on this province, Major A. H. Jukes, Independent Social Credit candidate for Victoria, told an election meeting of 125 at the Crystal Garden Tuesday evening.

"This party—God help them—are saying the most fantastic things about what Social Credit is," he claimed.

He said socialized credit is advocated in Solon Low's national platform, and this is the direct antithesis of Social Credit. "Mr. Low's platform," stated Major Jukes "is the greatest hodge-podge of state capitalism, socialized credit and Social Credit ever seen."

FREEDOM SLIPPING

Major Jukes maintained our individual freedom is slipping from us, through continual advancement of centralized control.

And centralized control is continually growing toward the political party system.

"Among all parties," he asked, "who represents you as an individual? No party."

"The political parties are like little birds in a cage, all trying to get on the swing perch—none realizing they are in a cage. The party system is a farce. "In an emergency, a war or a flood or disaster, we drop party politics to get things done. Why don't we do it always?" he asked.

Maj. Jukes stated true Social Credit would never turn the government into the banking business because that would mean more dangerous centralization of power. "Social Credit will never be brought in by a party," he said. "You cannot legislate people into the Kingdom of Heaven."

A DOUGLAS MAN

Maj. Jukes touched briefly on his long connection with the Social Credit movement, founded by Major Douglas, and dissociated himself completely with "other" types of Social Credit.

He read an extract from the publication of the World Social Credit Movement, which said: "In the 'Social Credit' government of British Columbia, few of its members know what Social Credit is. There has been and there is at present no question of this administration making any attempt to introduce Social Credit."

"During the election campaign, this pseudo-Social Credit party's spokesman pledged his government to model legislation Alberta's 'welfare' measures. This imitation of Alberta is not Social Credit nor is Social Credit intended; it is derogation of the name and perversion of the understanding of its nature."

Major Jukes stated, though he had been asked by many groups to stand as candidate, he would not run as representative of any party, thus was standing as an independent.

He was introduced by Sir Robert Holland.

GENTLEMEN'S PACT CANCELS SC TV TALK

VANCOUVER (CP)—A "gentlemen's agreement" has canceled a Vancouver Social Credit candidate's planned television speech.

Leslie R. Peterson had planned to broadcast over the Bellingham, Wash., TV station Wednesday night.

But a wire from national Social Credit leader Solon Low in Edmonton told Mr. Peterson he would be violating a "gentlemen's agreement" among national party leaders.

Peace Talks Started at Timmins

Representatives of the riot-torn Brown Reef mine at Timmins and the striking United Steelworkers Union began peace talks today at the request of the provincial labor department.

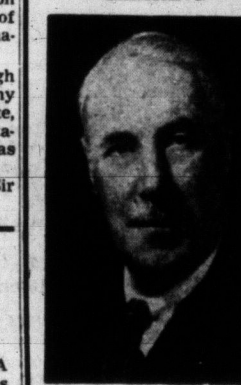

Mine manager Walter Brown, who said earlier he wouldn't talk to the union until miners who wanted to go back to work could do so without intimidation, was persuaded to attend the conference by chief conciliation officer Louis Fine.

Meanwhile police at Timmins pressed more charges against strikers who staged a bloody raid Friday. Fourteen gold miners already have been charged and Inspector Vern Whitley said more charges were pending.

COBURG, Ont. (CP)—While polio outbreaks attract wide attention, polio deaths among children are much less frequent than from whooping cough, said Dr. Charlotte Horner of the county health unit. Child deaths from whooping cough are twice as many, she said.

Chicago Mother Beats 3-Year-Old Son to Death

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a 28-year-old mother related early today she tied her three-year-old son to a water pipe, then beat him to death with a chair, breaking his arms, legs and nose.

The child's body was found Tuesday night by police who went to the family's apartment to investigate a neighbor's complaint that the mother, Mrs. Veronica Burowsky, was trying to conceal an injured child.

Police said the woman related she beat the boy, Peter Jr., because he was disobedient. She said she used a chair as a weapon until it broke—then used pieces of the chair.

Mrs. Burowsky and her 35-year-old husband, Peter, Sr., have three other small children. Police said they found this note from Mrs. Burowsky to her husband in the kitchen of the apartment: "Pete: Well, the bum got up again this a.m. Same thing. I got him in a closet. You can feed him supper if you want to, and then tie him up again..."

The woman was held without charge.

They Can Show a Knee on Streets of Poree, But We Keep Hems Down in Our Home Town

By AILEEN CAMPBELL

Victoria women with an eye for fashion want to hang onto their hemlines and let Paris' Christian Dior peddle his new styles elsewhere.

They consider his new-hiked hem announcement, which shocked the fashion world today, a below-the-belt blow. Prominent socialites, models and business girls interviewed today agree with the Queen's dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, that "calf-length is the most graceful for a woman's skirt—anything shorter is ugly."

Mrs. George Masters: "Clothes today suit our way of living and let us exercise good taste without being pushed around from one fad to another."

Mrs. M. L. Tyrwhitt-Drake: "I'm one of these middle-of-the-road people. . . I prefer the length most suited to the individual. . . skirts were too short during the war and too long immediately after."

Mrs. W. A. Trenholme: "I prefer the mid-calf length. . . I saw a Dior showing two years ago and the clothes were very extreme."

Mrs. Jan Joslin: "I agree with Hartnell. Dior is definitely extreme; you wouldn't walk around Victoria in one of his creations, that's for sure."

Miss Betty Collis: "The men would look at the legs not the shoes so you couldn't show off your shoes. . . shorter hemlines don't show the style of the skirt at all; besides it makes hips look fatter and the whole figure wider instead of slim."

Miss Dorene Goodman: "You couldn't wear a waste cincher. . . it would make your skirt look like a frill."

Mrs. J. C. Hibbard: "Hartnell and Dior had better decide it among themselves. . . I prefer the hemline as it is. I certainly don't want to buy a new wardrobe."

Mrs. Howard Damasko: "Present length is just perfect. . . a very short skirt is not flattering at all, even with good legs. It's neither graceful nor ladylike."

Mrs. Waldo Skillings: "I'll go along with Hartnell. . . it's a matter of personal taste and what suits the particular figure."

Mrs. Percy Scurrell: "I saw Dior's line in Paris. . . I think women may take to it. . . depends on the figure."

Mrs. Elsie Lowthian: "Mid-calf is most attractive but I think women will follow Dior. . . they said they wouldn't before but did."

Mrs. Arthur Ash: "When you see pictures of the short skirts as in the '20's, none of them were flattering."

Mrs. Howard Harman: "I don't like the hemline too short or too long. . . the present length suits me."

Miss Molly Edgar: "I think they should study the legs, not the fashion trends when they want to change hemlines."

Peggy Speirs: "I felt like writing them to leave the hemlines where they are."

Comment from a lone male who wishes to remain anonymous: "The shorter the better. . . let 'em wear bathing suits."

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Miss Josephine Lowman, whose daily words of wisdom appear in this newspaper under the heading "Why Grov Old?" had some exceptionally sound advice yesterday.

She devoted her column to the art of relaxing and taking rest periods during the day.

Miss Lowman pointed out: "If you work in an office, you can take little moments for relaxing while sitting right at your desk."

(A private office with a locked door and drawn blinds is best.)

"Of course," she added, "it would be better still if you could lie down."

(And even better if you could have stayed in bed this morning.)

"... but even sitting there, you can see to it that your arms and legs and shoulders and tongue are loose."

(Careful, now. . . loose tongues make loose talk, and loose talk is dangerous.)

"You can let go with your mind. . . and think of some far-away restful country scene."

(If the boss catches you at this, he will arrange for you to have permanent leisure to visit your far-away scene.)

"The woman in the home has a great advantage in that she can deliberately plan at least two rest periods each day."

(Naturally, the kids and the 'phone will be quiet; nothing will boil over on the stove; neither butcher nor baker nor vacuum cleaner salesman will pound on the door. You can see what a great advantage the woman in the home has.)

"When you take these little rest periods. . . if you have a beauty angle, rest on it."

(I rather prefer curves to angles myself, but let it go.)

"Do not think about problems! If you must think, make it pleasant thoughts, although the blanker your mind, the better."

(Ah! You mean, just keep my mind in its usual condition?)

"If you work in an office and it is at all possible, take a rest with your feet higher than your head when you return home. It will make the dinner hour much more pleasant."

(You could make it still more pleasant and entertaining for your guests if you walked on your hands.)

Pardon me, boss, while I relax at my desk.

Fire-gutted roof of Olde England Inn is examined by owner Sam Lane.

Heavy Damage by Fire At Esquimalt Hostel

Olde English Inn Damage Estimated At $20,000; Covered By Insurance

A fire that demolished the roof and burned through to the upper story of Esquimalt's Olde England Inn just before 6 p.m. Tuesday may have caused damage as high as $20,000, it was learned today.

Two fire departments and more than 1,000 spectators rushed to the scene when an automatic fire alarm announced the well-known Lamson Street tourist hotel was ablaze.

Owner-manager Sam Lane said the Esquimalt fire department was at the fire four minutes from the time the alarm sounded. Naval firefighters arrived with RCN trucks a few seconds later. Only their prompt arrival and the assistance of volunteers saved the hotel from complete destruction, he said.

An overheated chimney was thought to be the cause of the outbreak, which swiftly swept through the attic area and burned through into third floor rooms.

Most of 32 guests were out of the hotel and it remained for volunteers to clear out luggage and furniture, much of the latter valuable antiques, while firemen concentrated tons of water on the flames.

Mr. Lane said helpers appeared as if by magic. Members of the Esquimalt Lions rallied with townfolk.

They removed everything but permanent fixtures. This morning rugs were drying on the lawn, and downstairs quarters choked with mattresses and other furnishings.

Water damage was sustained throughout the building but the main dining room escaped damage.

Heart Attack Fatal to Herb Sabiston

Herbert F. C. Sabiston, well known B.C. Electric employee, died suddenly today.

He suffered a heart attack in his Douglas Street office shortly after 9 a.m. and succumbed at 10:30.

Mr. Sabiston, 48, was born at Ladysmith and moved to Victoria while still a youngster. He was educated at Sir James Douglas School.

Young Crew Rescued When Boat Capsizes

Anglers Avert Near Tragedy

Five Victoria young people had a narrow escape Tuesday evening when their small sailboat turned over in choppy seas and heavy winds about a half mile from shore directly out from Cadboro Bay.

They are Gillian Bridgman, Christmas Hill, North Quadra, owner of the boat; Diana Elkington, 572 Island Road; eight-year-old Heather Bridgman, and two naval cadets, Michael Rose and Dick Roberts.

All were reported well today despite their dip in chilly water and exposure to strong winds.

Their plight was spotted by Kal Wright and Bob Pearce, who were fishing several hundred yards away. The two fishermen, in a small inboard rented from Oak Bay Boat-house, rushed to the overturned craft and managed to pull the youngest girl in, despite choppy seas in a tide-rip which almost capsized their own boat.

Mr. Wright and Mr. Pearce then pulled the two older girls into their boat, while the boys hung onto ropes passed over the side.

Further assistance came from Ron R. Hopkins in his power cruiser. Mr. Hopkins took the girls aboard, and landed them at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

The two boys stayed with the sailboat. When the tow-line from the cruiser parted, they were taken in tow by Dr. W. A. Trenholme, who brought them to the yacht club mooring.

GIRL COLLAPSED

"I don't think the little girl could have lasted much longer," Mr. Wright said today. "It was a narrow squeak. . . she just collapsed in the bottom of the boat."

Mr. Wright and Mr. Pearce then pulled the two older girls into their boat, while the boys hung onto ropes passed over the side.

One of the two government officials suspended last month for allegedly failing to follow proper procedure in handling tenders has returned to his office in the Parliament Buildings while the other is still away on holidays.

A. B. Crowe, forestry department mechanical superintendent, returned to work Wednesday, July 15, following his one-month suspension. D. A. C. Smith, purchasing commission buyer, started his annual three weeks' holiday when his suspension ended, and will not be back at work until next Tuesday.

The Provincial Government Employees' Association has indicated it plans to take up the matter of the suspensions through grievance procedure.

Mr. McIntosh said Mr. Annis claimed that he could not send the will to Canada due to New York City laws. Mr. Annis had filed the will in a New York court, he added.

There are no such laws in Canada which prevent the "export" of wills to the United States.

"What am I to do?" asked Mr. McIntosh. "I asked the court for direction."

Mr. Justice Davey said he did not have the authority to order the New York Surrogate Court to send the will to Victoria. "It is also impossible for me to direct Mr. Annis to send the will as he has filed it in court," added His Lordship.

It was finally decided to adjourn the matter until Mr. McIntosh has studied the case further.

Q.—Have any of Canada's destroyers voyaged around the world? D.N.I.

A.—Yes, when HMCS Haida, a famous veteran of Second World War, arrived at Halifax last week after a tour of duty in Korean waters, she became the second Canadian destroyer to have circumnavigated the world. HMCS Nootka, so well known in Victoria, was the first, in late 1952.

Q.—Have any destructive tidal waves ever struck Vancouver Island? K.S.

A.—There appear to be no records in the hydrographic history of British Columbia of serious or major destruction by tidal waves. Some years ago there was unusually high water in these parts, but no damage was reported. This was believed to have resulted from an earthquake under the ocean in the region of the Aleutians. Similar high water conditions in other years were believed due to the same cause. The last such notable sea condition caused considerable damage at Honolulu.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to "Ask The Times," Editor, Questions and Answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matter of fact and be of general interest.

ROUNDABOUT SEEN AS MENACE WHEN NEW HIGHWAY COMPLETE

The "Roundabout"—at Douglas Hillside Government Gorge—is seen by city police commissioners as a menace to traffic when the new outlet for the Island Highway and Patricia Bay is completed.

The commission, with Commissioner William Hamilton as chairman in the absence of Mayor Claude L. Harrison, today endorsed a resolution from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce that the "roundabout question" be given careful study before the completion of the dual outlet.

"I agree," said Police Chief John Blackstock. "There'll be an awful mess out there when the new Island Highway is finished. There's got to be a new set-up to replace the fountain circle."

Going to Buy a New Hat? Better Read This First

Today I am thinking, not of a man with a cigar, but of a woman with a hat. Both pictures give us that warm feeling which comes from having right things together.

The current style of going hatless much of the time is good in many ways. It is less formal and more comfortable, but when a woman parts company with a hat she robs herself of a lot of glamour and a time-tested source of encouragement.

Down through the years, a perky hat has built up a woman's ego just when she needed most to have it build up. Many a woman has felt depressed, older or unattractive, and has then gone out and bought a hat with resulting benefit to her personality. There is something about a gay new hat and what

Teach Child Right Way to Pray In Family Prayer-Story Periods

NEW YORK—Are you looking for ways to reinforce your child's feelings of security? One way is to teach him how to pray, according to Catherine Marshall, recently the recipient of a Women's National Press Club award for her "contribution to the awakening of national interest in spiritual values." President Eisenhower presented the citation to her.

"Tell your child that God loves him as an individual and is interested in the details of his life," counsels Mrs. Marshall. "This will give him a great and constant friend. Whom you can relate to the child's life at his own level, in his own terms. You can make him real by telling your child about Jesus."

Gentle Catherine Marshall's late husband was the Rev. Peter Marshall, pastor of famous New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C., and chaplain of the Senate from 1947 until his sudden death in 1949. She has written a biography of her husband and has just completed a book of prayers and stories for children called "God Loves You."

Mrs. Marshall is aware of the typical child's egocentric tendency to think of God as a "celestial bell-hop," to trot out what the child wants "when he wants it."

"Parents must be wary of this from the beginning," she says, "and guide prayer so that the child puts his problem in

Help strengthen your child's security with religious training, advises Catherine Marshall (above with son), author of book of prayers and stories for children.

God's lap, rather than suggesting a solution to him."

Catherine Marshall suggests that you teach your child religious truths by the ancient method of the simple, enjoyable story which points its moral indirectly. In her home this is done in a family prayer-and-story period, held informally but regularly.

With similar regular meetings your child might form the habit of confiding in you which would be particularly valuable in the adolescent years. You'd have the situation already set up for your child to tell his private troubles without the embarrassment of seeking you out.

A child's attitude toward religion is very likely to follow his parents', Mrs. Marshall believes, regardless of any teaching he receives outside the home. "Some parents drop children at Sunday school but fail to attend church themselves. These children are likely to relegate religion to the realm of childish chores, to be abandoned as quickly as possible."

"When we asked her how one can link a child's attitude toward his own religion with a respect for the opinions of others, Catherine Marshall hesitatingly replied: 'No one group can encompass all of God's truth and error creeps into all sects. I would teach a child to keep an open mind.'"

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

It's a sensible precaution always to remove an electric iron plug from the wall before answering telephone or doorbell. You never know how long you'll be away.

A few thin coats of fresh white shellac on the outside of your wooden salad bowl will keep its original high finish intact.

With those tinkling icy glasses of lemonade pass a plate of crisp homemade cookies. Use prepared cookie mix and stir in chewy sweet raisins and chopped walnuts or almonds. Simple to do, and really hits the spot for summer afternoon refreshments.

Decorated china is more durable when the decoration is "underglaze." This means that the protective coating or glaze is put on following the decoration. Feel the china before buying to see if it is perfectly smooth. If it is rough, the decoration is an "overglaze."

Victoria Electrolysis Centre

The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania is an authorized article reported: "Unwanted facial hair is a defect not to be borne with brooding, but to be treated with common sense and confidence that it can be eradicated."

"There are many alleged cures for superfluous hair and some of these are unsatisfactory—and some are dangerous."

"The best way to be permanently rid of superfluous hair is to destroy the roots by means of electrolysis or the high frequency current. Done by an expert and dependable operator, this method is safe."

Victory Electrolysis Centre is staffed by expert, certified technicians, who are graduates of the Electro Institute of Electrolysis, New York, pioneers in this field. For appointments, Phone B-5614, Office 401 Campbell Building, corner Port and Douglas Streets.

Take Care of Your Feet in 'Dog Days'

MONTREAL, Que.—Whether shoes for summer wear on a hot day since feet often increase in size in humid weather. At any time of the year, a too tight shoe (too short or too narrow) may lead to perspiration trouble. Toes cramped or crushed together where shoe materials do not allow for evaporation means that perspiration is retained, the skin remains wet and soggy over long periods, leading frequently to breakdown of skin tissues, and finally such infections as Athlete's Foot. A seemingly mild foot infection which does not yield to home treatment—such as wet compresses or foot baths using a soothing, mildly astringent agent diluted with 15 or 20 parts tap water, and followed by applications of calamine lotion—should be examined by your doctor. Such infections can be foot crippling and very painful.

While excessive perspiration can be a year-round affliction, it is apt to be accentuated in the "dog days." With a little care your feet will give you painless service and contribute in no small measure to perfect holiday memories.

Dry your feet carefully after bathing, especially between the toes and folds of skin around the nails; rub well with a rough towel—helps circulation and removes dead skin—and dust freely with talc every morning and after bathing and after every swim and shower, too. Dust talc into socks and shoes. Insertion of lambs' wool pads between toes encourages circulation of air and helps absorb moisture.

Don't go stockinged even around home. Wear socks. Germs such as those which cause foot infections breed in heat and darkness. The inside of a shoe cannot be made completely clean and germ free. Besides, this stockinged practice is very hard on leather.

Don't run barefooted around swimming pools, shower baths and beach walks, all likely spots in which to pick up infection. Slip your feet into the inexpensive scuffs sold for the purpose. Get the habit.

For those who suffer from foot perspiration, wearing of sandals and perforated shoes is most helpful. But be very sure your shoes are not tight. Buy

Before buying upholstered furniture, examine the bottom to determine whether there is a webbing of criss-crossed bands beneath the outside cover. There should be.

Feel as light as a bird and look your best with '4711' GENUINE EAU DE COLOGNE. Just moisten your temples or inhale its revivifying fragrance to banish discomfort, regain ease and charming freshness.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Telephones are ringing this morning in Victoria and there's a great deal of chit-chat going back and forth about the astounding news that Christian Dior has decreed . . . DECREE, mind you . . . that women are to wear short skirts this autumn.

And not only are they to be SHORT . . . they are to be BARELY BELOW THE KNEE.

Waistlines, too, come in for a bit of knocking about by Monsieur Dior. "Lopping off your skirts won't be enough," he says, "there's a whole new cut that drapes the waistline loosely between the top of the hips and the bottom of the bust."

The story poses a question, too . . . will women again follow the lead of the man who has already revolutionized fashions once with the New Look?

Then comes the warning . . . "The new Dior clothes bear so little resemblance to those worn by women who are currently wearing that old wardrobe will have to be thrown out if the new style succeeds."

Seems to me the time has come for women to make a stand of some sort. Otherwise we're going to be again pushed into one of the ugliest styles that ever hit the fashion world.

For this business of styling skirts just below the knees IS NOT NEW. It's been tried before. If you don't remember the hideous knee-length and the slipped waistline, get out your old picture albums and turn the pages back 20 or 25 years. You'll find some of the saddest looking creations and the strangest looking legs!

Even the young debutantes were no balls of fire in the knee-length togs. They were too skinny. Their older sisters were, shall we say, a little too rounded . . . mother's hips were too wide and as for grandmother, she looks, in the picture, as if she had somehow got herself into granddaughters' cast-off dress.

Mind you, change in moderation is a good thing. Keeps us on our toes . . . adds a fillup to the business of choosing clothes. But when it comes to turning our wardrobes inside out . . . to arbitrarily saying "toss 'em out," then it's time for women to do something about it.

Tell Christian Dior and all his brother and sister couturiers that they may give us winged collars, bustle backs, dropped necklines and bracelet sleeves but LEAVE THE SKIRT LENGTH a moderate half-mast between knee and ankle. It suits the majority of women and for my money it looks the smartest!

Let's up and at these fashion fellows and let them know we are WOMEN NOT SHEEP!

What am I doing tonight? . . . Well, I'm planning to spend the evening at home going over my wardrobe. I've GOT TO find a dressmaker to alter my skirts. Come autumn, we'll be wearing the new knee-length styles and the dropped waistlines, you know!

Christian Dior says so!

48 Women Will Try for Seats In Federal House

The jump from the frying pan of the kitchen to the fire of the Commons is attracting more women than ever.

A record 48 of them are out to try to boost their sex's representation in the next House, upheld by a lone housewife in the last sitting.

They make up about 5 per cent of the 902 candidates nominated for the Aug. 10 election, yet they far outnumber the 15 who ran in 1949 and the record of 18 in 1945.

Twenty-two of the women seek seats in Ontario. Nine more are going after election in Quebec. There are seven in British Columbia, two each in Alberta and Saskatchewan and one in Newfoundland.

Victoria Girl Married In Ontario Ceremony

An afternoon dress of ivory silk faille was worn by Audrey Mary Cridge when she was married recently, to Edwin B. Finch, in an afternoon ceremony in St. John's Church, Port Stanley, Ont. The gown was designed on classic lines with an Elizabethan neckline from which there were tiny buttons to the hemline. Her three-quarter-length sleeves feature full cuffs and she wore handmade lace mitts which formerly belonged to her great aunt. She wore natural linen shoes and carried a hand corsage of dark red sweetheart roses centred with a white gardenia.

Rev. T. Hurtle performed the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Cridge, 417 Linden Avenue, with the son of Mrs. J. T. Finch and the late Mr. Finch, London, Ont. Baskets of multi-colored gladioli decorated the church and an organ interlude was played during the signing of the register. Ronald T. Hart, London, Ont., gave the bride in marriage.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Ronald T. Hart, formerly Barbara Gordon of Victoria, who wore an afternoon dress of chartruese shantung and a cinnamon-colored wide-brimmed hat. She wore matching gloves, linen shoes and carried a hand corsage of yellow marguerites and mauve gladioli. The groom's brother, Richard B. Finch, was best man.

Alma Villa, Port Stanley, which overlooks waters of Lake Erie, was the scene of the reception. Baskets of gladioli were placed about the room and the bridal table was centred with the wedding cake. Ronald T. Hart proposed the toast to the bride.

Gladys Wade, Albert Perrin Wed

Christ Church Cathedral was scene of an attractive wedding, when Gladys Maude Wade became the bride of Albert Perrin, 140 Wellington Avenue. The evening ceremony was performed by Dean P. R. Beattie. White gladioli were used to decorate chancel and altar and wedding music was played by Graham Steed. H. J. Wade gave his sister in marriage.

White lace and net fashioned the bride's gown which had a strapless fitted bodice and was topped with a lace bolero with long lily-point sleeves. With it she wore a Belgian hand-embroidered veil of nylon net and she carried a prayer book, the gift of her late grandmother, which was adorned with gardenias and sweetheart roses.

A full-length gown of south sea coral net was worn by maid of honor, Miss Mary McLean. The strapless bodice was fashioned of tiny inverted tucks and trimmed with silk braid. She wore a bolero jacket, matching mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of roses, sweet peas and carnations. Gordon Simmons was best man and guests were ushered by Bill Allen and David Allen.

Reception was held at Cherry Bank Hotel, where the lounge was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, daisies, pinks and

SHOPPING SENSE

Follow Rules, Avoid Mistakes

Career girls, have you discovered in the middle of a heat wave that you haven't enough summer dresses? Here are some shopping suggestions for you to think about while in the fitting room.

Will the dress be cool? Cotton is generally considered the coolest of fabrics. If the dress is nylon, examine for a porous weave.

Will the dress pay for itself in general usefulness? It's economical to choose a color and style adaptable to your present accessories.

Do you have the proper underpinnings for it? If not, you'll have to spend more money for them, to say nothing of the shopping time involved. Even though the dress may not look sheer at first glance, hold it up to the light. Do you have a petticoat if the skirt is full? Will the neckline reveal your bra straps?

If you can't get a perfect fit, you'll be wiser to take a larger size, rather than a smaller one. Estimate the cost of alterations before buying.

Examine the workmanship. To estimate the comfort of the dress, sit, bend over, and raise your arms.

Will it wash? Is it color-fast? Is it preshrunk? Look for hand-tags giving this information.

Does the dress look like you and feel like you?

larkspur. A three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by pink tulle and rosebuds centred the bride's table. White candles and vases of fern and larkspur completed the decorations.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Col. D. B. Martyn, Seattle. Other, out-of-town guests were Mrs. Millar Strike, the groom's aunt, Mrs. Perrin, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Mona Moore of Vancouver.

For traveling on honeymoon to Banff, Perrin chose an ensemble of white and navy with matching gloves and shoes. She wore a corsage of gardenias and sweetheart roses. The couple will live at 1750 Rockland Avenue upon return to the city.

Good pieces of furniture with drawers have centre guides on the bases of large drawer openings to permit easier gliding, and there are guiding grooves or blocks along the sides. Watch for these when buying furniture.

NEW FIRING LINE

MacArthur Gets Blast From Rand Shareholder

BUFFALO (UP)—A minority stockholder of Remington Rand Inc. clashed verbally with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the company's chairman of the board, at the annual meeting of stockholders today.

The stockholder, Lewis D. Gilbert of New York City, took the floor and told MacArthur he didn't want the general as board chairman unless he bought some Remington Rand stock.

"What I do with my money is none of your business or anybody else's," MacArthur replied calmly.

Gilbert then asked if the $45,533 listed in a stockholder's proxy statement as the general's remuneration during the fiscal year ended March 31 was correct.

SALARY QUESTIONED

"I and the stockholders I represent thought you were receiving a salary of $100,000 a year," Gilbert said.

Both MacArthur and company secretary John A. W. Simson answered the question.

"That figure of $100,000 was an estimate on the part of some newspapers," Simson told Gilbert.

Breaking in, MacArthur said: "I want to say that the compensation I receive from the company is very generous."

"Outside of expenses, is the figure in the proxy statement correct?" Gilbert pressed.

"I think that is correct," MacArthur said.

The general, who joined Remington Rand as a director and chairman of the board of directors on July 31, 1952, after retiring from the army, was re-elected as a director Tuesday along with the other 13 board members but, unlike them, did not receive a unanimous vote.

"As long as you don't own stock in the company, I won't vote for you," Gilbert told the general, who presided over the meeting. "I ask you, when are you going to buy some stock?"

After a slight pause in the quiet room, MacArthur replied that the company by-laws do not require that directors be stockholders.

EMPLOYEE NOT OWNER

"I am an employee of Remington Rand," MacArthur said deliberately, "not an owner. I am not as fortunate as you, Mr. Gilbert. As to my financial situation, I will say that my money in the past has been invested in defense bonds to help defend our wonderful country."

"And what I do with my money is none of your business or anybody else's."

Good Business Foreseen By Bank Chief

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Gordon R. Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal, predicted today the balance of 1953 would continue to be good for business.

He was in Vancouver for a banquet to be held Thursday to honor Mathew Hunter, retiring as manager of the bank's main branch here.

"Business activity in Canada generally, as in British Columbia, has for some time been maintained at a high level that bids fair to continue through the second half of the year," Ball said in an interview.

"Industrial production, house building and other capital investment, personal income and retail sales have been running well ahead of a year ago."

Ball said, however, that rising wage and salary costs in the face of steady or declining sale prices were bearing adversely on business profits, and forcing sharpened competition.

"The drop in overseas markets, of course, has to some extent been a relative matter since they were very big in the early months of last year," the bank president added.

Liberals' Record Poor Says Sacred Candidate

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—If Liberals had done such a good job of running the country as they try to make out, they would not need to be campaigning so vigorously, James Roberts, Social Credit candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich, told a meeting here Tuesday night.

Mr. Roberts charged the government with waste, and held that a Progressive Conservative government would be no better than the Liberal.

Mr. Roberts said both old-line parties feared a Social Credit opposition after the Aug. 10 election. He felt Social Credit had a good chance of filling that roll.

Herbert J. Bruch, MLA for Saanich, spoke in support of Mr. Roberts.

Absence May End Royal Romance Intimate of Family Circle Says

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch on the romance of Princess Margaret and Group Captain Peter Townsend was obtained from the most authoritative sources and represents the current view of the affair within the royal circle itself.)

LONDON (UP).—Princess Margaret is still somewhat in love with Group Captain Peter Townsend but has promised her family she will do nothing dramatic about it—presumably meaning she will not follow the example of her uncle, the Duke of Windsor—at least until next May.

At that time her sister, Queen Elizabeth, and the Duke of Edinburgh will return from their six months Commonwealth tour and her own service as a member of state will be at an end. Townsend recently was transferred to his own request to the job of air attaché at Brussels from that of deputy master of the Queen's household. The Queen frankly is hoping that the months of separation from the handsome 38-year-old war hero will give Margaret second thoughts on an "impractical" romance.

For Margaret as a member of the Royal Family cannot marry without the consent of her sister. And Elizabeth, as head of the Church of England, sworn to uphold its laws—as she solemnly did at her Coronation in Westminster Abbey only last month—simply cannot grant permission for marriage to a divorced man.

A source close to the Throne said it was impossible to over-emphasize this one point: the Queen cannot give permission for Margaret to marry Townsend without breaking her own Coronation oath.

204th Casualty List May Be War's Last

OTTAWA (CP).—The army Tuesday issued possibly the last casualty list of the Korean war. It contained the names of three men wounded in action, including what may be the last Canadian casualty of the war—Tr. James Nickerson of Windsor, Ont.

It brought Canadian casualties in Korea to 1,509, of which 1,502 were sustained by the army.

From Seoul, Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, said Trooper Nickerson was wounded outside his tank by a shell fragment at 4.30 p.m. July 26, Korean time—17½ hours before the armistice was signed. Fighting stopped 12 hours later.

Trooper Nickerson's name appeared on the 204th army list of the war. The first list was issued March 2, 1951.

Monday's list brought to 1,502 total casualties suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action, including 291 dead, 1,072 wounded, 26 missing, 95 injured and 18 captured. This does not include two returned prisoners of war.

In addition, the navy reported three dead and three injured in action and the air force has reported one missing.

Others on the new list were: Pte. Ivan Lunn, RCR; Windsor, N.S., and Pte. Gordon Messenger, RCR; Egmondville, Ont.

BIRDS CARED FOR

VELVERTON, England (CP).—Engineers repairing telegraph poles found two birds nested in a hole on top of one. They cut off the top section of pole and hung it at the same height on a newly-erected pole, a solution that was acceptable to the blue-tits.

Musk oxen many times have provided a vital source of food for Arctic explorers.

Margaret must have her sister's permission for marriage before she is 25. For the 181-year-old Royal Marriages Act stipulates that all descendants of George II must get royal assent to marry. After the age of 25 she can marry by giving one year's notice to the Privy Council, providing Parliament does not exercise its right to step in and forbid it.

This would mean three years of waiting, since Margaret will not be 25 until August 21.

The only other way the princess can marry Townsend is by giving up her royal prerogatives and finding some minister somewhere who would be willing to risk the displeasure of his church, as the Rector of Stiffkey did for the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

Friends of the Royal Family are anxious that the public should not assume the "wicked" Queen is preventing her sister from marrying for love. Elizabeth is completely sympathetic, but royalty carries penalties as well as privileges. The princess knows that her personal inclinations cannot always take precedence over duty.

Margaret has made her own stand quite clear. She thinks she loves the dark-haired, dashing pilot who has long been a favorite of Mayfair beauties. She would like to marry him but she realizes how difficult things would be for her family and is apparently willing to wait a while.

A friend of the Duke of Edinburgh said it might be wishful thinking, but there was a disposition in royal circles to feel that the Princess is not as intense about pursuing the romance as she was some time ago.

WOULD AID FINANCIALLY

Queen Elizabeth's position is also clear. She cannot approve the marriage, but she loves her sister dearly. She would almost certainly make some financial provision for her if she should give up her royal prerogatives—as her father, King George VI, did for his brother, the Duke of Windsor.

Townsend has no fortune. His father was an army career officer and a civil servant. His mother lives in moderate circumstances. Besides, he has two children to support from his first marriage.

Townsend's position baffles the palace. He asked for the transfer to Brussels when the romance became public property. He did this apparently because he found it difficult to continue duties which threw him into daily contact with Princess Margaret, while gossip "giving on scandal," as the Times of London said, circulated about them.

It has been automatically assumed in many quarters that Townsend is anxious to marry the princess. Royal circles are not sure that this is quite the case. They think it possible that the worldly-wise Townsend might appreciate, even more than a girl in the throes of first love, all the hazards in the way of a lasting marriage.

These, among others, are the 16 years difference in their ages, his two children, lack of money on the scale the princess is used to, the social complications of living in England thereafter. The Duke of Windsor lives in "exile" abroad rather than face these, but the Royal family doesn't consider "Uncle David" a very happy man.

There seems to be a feeling that what happens next in the affair—whether the princess keeps or breaks her promise to wait—depends more on Townsend than on Margaret.

A member of the Royal circle confided recently to this correspondent: "If you hear anything about his intentions, I wish you'd let us know."

Expert Claims Erasure Made in Ship's Log

TORONTO (CP).—An RCMP expert testified Tuesday that he is certain abrasions or erasures were made in the log book of the Burlington, one of two Great Lakes ships which collided in Lake Superior June 20 with loss of one life.

The RCMP had been asked last Friday to check the Burlington's log after Capt. John Ward had denied making any changes. The charge of erasures had been made by Peter Wright, counsel at the government inquiry.

Cpl. Ray Arnold Hubert of the RCMP laboratory said he had made tests with his thumb nail, art gum and with rubber but could not successfully match the altered portion of the log book. He said he thought that perhaps a knife had been used. The inquiry was constituted following the collision in dense fog off Lake Superior's north shore between the Burlington and the grain-laden Scotiadic, which sank.

Testimony was expected to end today. Judgment may be handed down by end of week.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Gout Pains Relieved by Drugs But Diet Control Best Cure

A correspondent who says he is 39 years old, writes that he has been having attacks of gout off and on for approximately 10 years. In addition, he says: "I never did get quite clear as to what caused it." This statement is certainly not surprising since no one else is clear about it, either.

There is a strong family tendency towards gout, and most students of the disease now believe that it is truly inherited, though probably not all of those who have it will develop recognizable signs of the active disease. In other words, it is considered to be an inherited disorder of metabolism similar in some respects to diabetes. Incidentally, it is much more common among men than women.

There are many other peculiar things about gout. Acute attacks of the disease tend to occur most often in the spring and fall. In its typical form, it starts suddenly in the middle of the night with severe pain at the base of one of the big toes. The pain is terrific, and usually wakes the victim from a sound sleep.

Some of those who have had an acute attack describe it as though the joint were being pried apart with a red hot poker, a thoroughly unpleasant sensation, I should imagine.

There is a chronic form of the disease, usually called gouty arthritis. This is a late stage of the disease in which crystal-like substances called urates, made of the products of purines, are deposited in or near the joints and in some other locations. Sometimes these deposits reach enormous size, hen's eggs or larger.

If given at the beginning of an attack, cortisone or ACTH may ward off the development of the pain and the swelling. However, these substances frequently seem to delay the attack which comes anyway later, rather than stop it altogether.

GOUT CAN BE RELIEVED

But fortunately, acute gout can be greatly relieved by proper supervision, improved diet and attention to living conditions. Other drugs, one of them quite new, have great value in gout. Those who have the disease are usually required to refrain from most alcoholic liquors and from foods which contain a high proportion of purines, such as sweetbreads, liver, kidneys, squab and calves' tongue.

Indeed, there are other foods such as pork, beef, veal, sausage, gravy and several kinds of fish which may also be taboo for a victim of gout because of the relatively high amounts of purine that they contain.

Gout is considered an unusual, though not rare disease. By proper management much can be done to lessen the frequency of attacks and to ward off the development of gouty arthritis or chronic gout. Long known though it has been, there are still many unsolved problems concerning the origin and management of this curious disorder.

Free 7 Years, Good Citizen Recaptured

HAMILTON (CP) — A German merchant seaman who escaped from an Ontario detention camp shortly after the end of the Second World War was taken into custody here Tuesday. He had worked as "an exemplary citizen" for six years.

The RCMP said Franz Jenisch, about 45, was picked up at a Hamilton machine shop after a resident noticed his picture in a newspaper photo series of escaped prisoners-of-war still at large.

"I'm very glad to have this cleared up if it means I can stay in Canada," police quoted Jenisch as saying. "It's been bothering me for a long time and I knew it would finally happen."

Jenisch, who escaped from an army work camp at Cooksville, about 15 miles southwest of Toronto, July 12, 1946, is being held by Hamilton police until the army decides what to do with him.

The RCMP said that if he gets a clean bill of health from military authorities, he will then be eligible for a hearing by immigration officials to decide whether he will be allowed to remain in Canada.

The German worked openly at several odd jobs in the Hamilton area before starting his present job at a machine shop in 1947. In the interval, he improved his English and found a place in community life. He told police he has plans to marry.

ANOTHER 'FAIR DEAL'

Truman Wants Same Tax Rule as Ike on Memoirs

NEW YORK (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman is seeking tax relief on the income from his forthcoming memoirs, but the internal revenue bureau has reached no decision on the request, former Judge Samuel I. Rosenman said today.

Rosenman, Mr. Truman's attorney and a former adviser to both Mr. Truman and the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said he expected a ruling soon.

Mr. Truman is seeking a tax ruling to permit him to spread income from his memoirs over a period of years and thus lessen his tax burden.

He sold publication rights to Life Magazine for what was reported to be more than $500,000. If he had to pay taxes on it in one lump, most of the sum might go to the government.

In the past, "non-professional" authors, including President Eisenhower, have been able to declare income from sales of their books as capital gains, subject to a lower tax rate than earned income. This provision of the law has been repealed, however.

Publication of Mr. Truman's memoirs is scheduled for 1955.

There was speculation in Washington that an advisory opinion had been issued that was unfavorable to the proposal submitted by Rosenman. One published report said an unfavorable ruling had been made.

Both Rosenman and the Internal Revenue Bureau spokesmen denied a ruling had been made.

Rosenman said he had been "talking with them right along."

In Chicago, Charles D. Davis, former chief counsel of the bureau, said he had written an advisory opinion before he left the post but he would not say what it was. Davis, now with a Chicago law firm, said the opinion was "advisory and confidential."

His opinion would not necessarily be the final ruling by the internal revenue commissioner, he said.

"Any final decision will be subject to approval by Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, an Eisenhower appointee."

Mount Etna Belches Black Smoke, Ashes

CATANIA, Sicily (Reuters)—Mount Etna, Europe's biggest active volcano, today belched black smoke and scattered a light shower of ashes over nearby Catania. The activity, the first for nine months, sent geologists hurrying to the 10,000-foot volcano. But they reassured frightened locals that there was no danger of a full-scale eruption.

Kiwanis Plan Extra 16 'Village' Homes At Cost of $96,000

Service Club Banks on Continued Public Support to Supply Low-Rent Homes for Aged

Kiwanis Village building program swung into high gear again Tuesday as the service club builders called for tenders for an additional 16 homes.

The new phase is expected to cost $96,000, bringing total value of the village built or in planning stages to $150,000.

Six elderly Victoria couples are already lodged in the comfortable, low-rent homes.

Kiwanis is banking on continued public financial support of the construction fund drive. So far the building society admits to being "short a considerable amount," but wants to get foundations in and roofs on the new homes before the onset of winter.

Canvassing is continuing by club members and it is hoped other community groups will offer to assist in the house-to-house calls. Results so far have been "spectacular," one official said today.

The spokesman added that people need not wait for canvassers to call, as a donation sent to Kiwanis Village, Victoria, B.C., would be acknowledged or money may be given to any city bank.

Briton Sees Canada Carrying 'Torch of Europe' Farthest

LONDON (CP)—Ernest Watkins, British author and radio commentator, says he thinks Canada will carry the "torch lit by Europe" farther than any other country.

Just back from a three-month visit, Watkins said in a BBC broadcast he is convinced a new pattern of society is growing in Canada, something different, fresh, exciting—not just a copy of the United States.

One big difference, he said, is that U.S. industrial techniques were developed mainly to satisfy a home market, making her a "self-regarding" country. Canada, on the other hand, received her view of the world, as had Britain, from international trade.

"One might say that the United States is learning about the rest of the world reluctantly, lest she be hurt if she does not. Canada has a more positive reason for learning—she will starve if she does not."

Difference No. 2 was the American revolution. Americans were left with a belief that they had to throw off the yoke of Europe, particularly Britain, by violence. Canada grew to freedom naturally, as a child grows.

"Canada is the one country in the Americas of European stock which has become a nation without fear of Europe, without resentment of Europe."

ON EXERCISE

Planes Fly Atlantic Both Ways

MONTREAL (CP)—Bombers which "attacked" Canada during Operation Tailwind July 10-12 operated from the United Kingdom and returned to base without landing in Canada or refueling. The Ensign reported Monday.

"An outstanding feature of the exercise was the fact that special United States B-36 bombers, equipped with both piston engines and jets, flew the Atlantic, participated in the exercises over Canada and the U.S. without once landing, and continued their non-stop flight right back to their base in the United Kingdom," said the weekly paper.

"They had a cruising radius at operational speed of more than 20 hours."

Vancouver Bathers Discover Man's Body

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Bathers at Kitsilano Beach were horrified Tuesday night when they discovered the body of a man floating in the water.

Police said the decomposed remains were those of William Francis Meehan, a pensioner, who had been living in a houseboat beneath Burrard Bridge.

FAKE QUIZMASTER ROBS WOMAN OF ALL CASH IN THE HOUSE

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP)—A man who said he was a radio quizmaster telephoned Mrs. Barbara Farrell, 56, telling her she was the lucky winner of whatever amount of money she had in her house.

The thrilled Mrs. Farrell replied she had $64 on hand. Later the man called at her home, took her $64 cash and gave her a cheque for $128.

The cheque bounced.

'ARE YOU AWARE SIR ...'

Persistent Irish Reporter Lectures Adlai Stevenson

LONDON (Reuters)—Adlai Stevenson was treated today to a 10-minute harangue on the question of Irish reunification.

The United States Democratic leader had just finished his opening remarks at a press conference when a reporter jumped to his feet and began what turned out to be a speech on the reunifying of Ulster with Eire.

He referred to representative John Rogarty's Dem.-R.I. resolution at the beginning of the new U.S. congressional session for Ireland's reunification.

"Are you aware, sir," the reporter shouted, "that the resolution has the signatures of 91 states?"

"Did you say, '91 states,' sir?" Stevenson asked. "I know many things have happened since I've been away, but I hadn't realized..." Laughter drowned the rest.

"I have been put down by others, sir," the reporter continued in an injured tone, "by General Bradley and President Eisenhower."

"So have I, sir," Stevenson retorted.

The repartee came to an end when the reporter asked

Surrey Man Killed When Car Hits Bike

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—

A 43-year-old Surrey man—John Thompson—was killed instantly Tuesday when he was struck by a car while he was riding his bicycle on the Trans-Canada Highway in the Fleetwood area of Surrey. The victim was thrown 75 feet by the force of the impact.

OFFICIAL ORDER UNHEEDED

Reds, UN Troops Fraternize

SEOUL (AP)—The United States 8th Army today issued strict orders against fraternization with the Reds as the massive withdrawal of Allied and Communist armies reached full swing across the Korean battle front.

But from every sector of the mountainous front came reports of close and amicable contacts—where furious and bitter fighting raged only days ago.

"Hey, GI," shouted some North Korean soldiers in the Heartbreak Ridge area. "No more shoot shoot. We both go home!"

South Korean troops, who manned two-thirds of the 150-mile battle line, were pulling back on schedule in keeping with President Syngman Rhee's policy of not obstructing the truce.

A strange meeting between United States and Chinese took place on the western front.

There, in a no-man's-land setting, Chinese Communist soldiers threw their arms around Americans and gave them cigarettes, wine and souvenirs. The Americans in turn gave the Chinese candy and cigarette lighters.

On the Commonwealth front, the Chinese erected a sign which wished the Canadians a safe trip home.

Associated Press correspondent George McArthur toured the western sector and found Marines and Chinese co-operating in the recovery of bodies from a battlefield that was aflame only a day or two ago.

Meanwhile, Red Cross teams from Allied and Communist sides were arriving in Korea. They will be allowed to visit prisoner camps in both North and South Korea.

Inspection of the demilitarized zones by joint Allied-Red observer teams will be made immediately after the withdrawal is completed.

Young Briton Beats Canadian Chess Master

GLASGOW (CP)—Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg lost his second-round game in the Glasgow chess tournament Thursday. He was beaten by young Jonathan Penrose of Britain.

The loss, after his opening-round victory in the seven-round tournament, dropped him into a three-way tie for second place with one point. Penrose is tied with two others for first place with 1½ points.

Huskiest HAULERS

BY THE PACKAGE

Model for Model, feature for feature, GMC trucks give you more real dollar value right from the word "Go!" On city delivery jobs, for example, they can't be equalled for dependability, stamina, attractive appearance and all 'round utility. And every single model, from the smart-looking sedan delivery to the biggest heavy-duty hauler, brings you overall economy you've never known before!

BY THE TON

Where the loads are heaviest and the going is roughest, GMC trucks can handle the really rugged jobs with ease, and come back for more. GMC pays off in load-carrying ability with deep channel section frame side rails, rugged front axles plus, a full range of rear axles and transmissions and heavy duty springs. This wide range lets you select exactly the GMC truck you want for your particular job.

BY THE MILE

For faster acceleration and greater hill-climbing ability, GMC pays off in power with a choice of four famous high-compression engines ranging from 107 h.p. to 130 h.p. The Loadmaster, the Torquemaster and the Workmaster all bring you sparkling valve-in-head performance, full-pressure lubrication and scores of other features to provide the power you need with the economy you want. For real value—see your GMC dealer!

Britain Ready to Support Law-Abiding China

LONDON (AP)—A top government leader said today Communist China must show a willingness to become a law-abiding member of the society of nations if she wants Britain to support her application for United Nations membership.

The informant, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Indo-China is one of the places for Red China to prove her good will. He said if Peing wants to clear the way for east-west trade and to get a seat in the UN she will have to stop her intervention in behalf of Ho Chi Minh's rebels in Indo-China.

The Chinese Reds have troop formations in the field in Indo-China but they are sending war materials and possibly instructors to aid the rebels.

The Japanese have specialized for centuries in production of fancy types of goldfish.

Planes Bring Out Body of RCAF Flier

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — The body was brought to a nearby lake in a helicopter after the parachutist cut a landing strip, then flown here in a float-equipped aircraft.

The Mustang crashed while returning to its home base at northern Ontario bushland 55 miles northwest of here July 18, after a defense exercise.

DULLES FACES TOUGH TASK

Rhee Could Spoil Korea Armistice

TOKYO (UP). — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may find it tougher to forge a common front with Syngman Rhee for the Korean peace conference than it was to persuade the South Korean president to go along with the armistice.

Diplomatic sources here predicted Rhee's present terms for unification of Korea and withdrawal of foreign troops—main issues to be settled at the political conference—will be totally unacceptable to the Communists and doom the meeting to failure.

Dulles' main task at the meetings next week, the sources said, will be to soften Rhee's demands, without abandoning the goal of a free and unified Korea, so that the conference will have a chance of success.

If the peace conference fails after three months of debate, Rhee threatens to renew the war. This would confront the United States and the United Nations Allies with the choice of standing by while South Korea suicidally tackles the 1,000,000-man Red army or breaking the armistice and again coming to Rhee's aid.

In his talks with Dulles next week, if he stands firm on his repeated policy declarations, Rhee will:

1. Reject any unification plan that calls for national elections in South as well as North Korea to form a new government. He insists his government already is the lawful government of all Korea recognized by the UN on the basis of UN supervised elections in 1948 and subsequent general assembly declarations.
2. Reject any coalition with the present Communist rulers of North Korea.
3. Reject participation of Communist or pro-Communist parties in a North Korean election.
4. Insist on unification terms which mean, in effect, the absorption of the northern half of the peninsula into his Republic of Korea with himself remaining as president.

In addition, the strong-willed patriarch of Korean nationalism has demanded the withdrawal of Chinese Communist forces—but not U.S. forces.

Rhee proposes the U.S.-Korean defense treaty on which Dulles will open negotiations in Seoul provide for the "right" of the United States to base military forces in Korea.

Intelligence Newest Corps To Hoist Flag

CAMP BORDEN, Ont. (CP) — The youngest corps in the Canadian Army raised its new flag this week.

The Canadian Intelligence Corps, barely 10 years old but proud of an ancestry that carries back through the two world wars, gathered its clans and celebrated a kind of coming of age.

The occasion is the official opening Friday of the Canadian school of military intelligence, which offers the first specialized intelligence training ever undertaken in Canada in peacetime. The opening is being preceded by exercise Coverall, a week-long realistic, large-scale reserve army training scheme that demonstrates the role of army intelligence in modern warfare.

Intelligence personnel deprecate the glamorous cloak-and-dagger atmosphere that has been attributed to their job. Major R. H. (Tex) Noble, who heads the intelligence school, describes his work as teaching men how to obtain the maximum of information about the enemy and learning how to evaluate it.

The information may come from military patrols, reconnoitering aircraft, helpful or unwilling civilian informants or captured enemy prisoners. The main stock-in-trade of the good intelligence officer in assessing that information, says Maj. Noble, is "plenty of good, plain common sense."

Maniac Loose On Turnpike

PITTSBURGH (CP) — The second truck driver in three days was shot to death early Tuesday while sleeping in the cab of his truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

In neither case was there any robbery. Cpl. William Smith of the state police expressed belief "there is a maniac loose on the turnpike."

U.S. Car Companies Dictate Trade Policies Says CCF'er

A charge that three large United States automobile companies dictate many of Canada's trade policies, was made by Frank Snowsall, who spoke on behalf of CCF candidate Robert McIntosh at an election meeting Tuesday.

Speaking at St. Martin's Hall, Obed Avenue, to an audience of about 30, Mr. Snowsall said the three car manufacturing companies were responsible for preventing 25 different types of British cars from going on exhibition at the Toronto Fair last year.

Mr. Snowsall said the action of the car companies reflected that could be expected from the United States when its goods and merchandise came in competition with those of other countries.

The United States won't treat Canada any better," said Mr. Snowsall, who criticized the Liberal government's trade relations with the American government. "The United States is only nice to Canada when she needs us."

Stating that Canada's economy was still geared to the agricultural industry, Mr. Snowsall said the Liberal government should have maintained trade relations with Great Britain and other Commonwealth countries.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (BUP) — The United Electrical Workers' Union called 750 members out on strike today at the North American Cyanamid Company here and massed 400 men at the plant gates to prevent non-union employees from maintaining operations.

About 350 Cyanamid workers do not belong to the union. The company agreed to all terms of the conciliation board recommendation except for union security. The union refused to accept the contract without this clause.

Five Airmen Arrested for $20,000 Theft

LACHINE, Que. (BUP)—Five airmen were under close arrest today for allegedly embezzling possibly $20,000 by issuing paychecks to fictitious officers at the RCAF transport command base here.

Names of the men, taken into custody last Friday and Saturday, were kept secret. A service board of inquiry took over the case to determine what charges would be laid.

All five were said to be enlisted clerks working in the base accounting department.

Details of the swindle were classified. It was learned, however, that the men boosted the amount of their own cheques by small amounts each week and made out other cheques to wing commanders and senior officers who didn't exist.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The air force said today that two civilians and no RCAF personnel were involved in the theft of $10,000 worth of copper wire from its storage warehouse at Downsview, Ont., near Toronto, which is still under construction.

"The results of the investigation were turned over to the North York police. The RCMP have been requested to co-operate in every way. Action is being followed up to recover the copper wire," the air force said.

33 New Polio Cases

MONTREAL (CP)—J. A. Ouellet, general manager of the CBC, said today the Labor-Progressive party, with 100 candidates nominated for the Aug. 10 federal election, now qualifies for free time on CBC networks for political broadcasts.

Ted Williams Back

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams arrived at the scene of many of his glorious baseball moments today, fresh from active duty in Korea as a marine corps air captain, and within a few minutes had signed a contract to play for the third-place Boston Red Sox the remainder of the 1953 season and the 1954 American League campaign.

Truce Violations Charged by Reds

Allies Ask Proof Before Taking Action On Minor Infractions; Clark En Route Home

MUNSAN (AP)—The Communists today charged the Allies with eight violations of the Korean armistice—allegations promptly labelled by the Allies as minor and lacking information.

The Reds made the charges at today's second meeting of the joint Korean armistice commission. They asserted three aircraft flew over the demilitarized buffer zone, and that four artillery rounds and one burst of machine-gun bullets were fired after the cease-fire became effective.

U.S. Maj. Gen. MacKearney M. Bryan, chief Allied commissioner, disclosed after today's one-hour 22-minute meeting that the charges were lodged by his Communist counterpart, North Korean Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho.

The commission recessed until 11 a.m. Thursday (10 p.m. EDT today).

"We were accused this morning," Bryan said. "These were allegations, broad and general, and nothing serious. None have been substantiated."

He added that he had "asked for additional information on which to base further action." Bryan disclosed also that he had asked that the huge exchange of war prisoners begin Sunday, rather than August 5 as agreed upon Tuesday, but that the Reds could not advance the date.

TOKYO (UP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark left by plane today for the United States where he will receive a returning hero's welcome and attend his son's wedding.

Mrs. Clark accompanied the general who directed the United Nations forces in their final battles against the Communists, supervised the truce negotiations and signed the armistice documents which halted the three-year-old Korean war.

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—The first group of North Korean Communist war prisoners today left their prison camp island on the first leg of their trip home.

A shipload of 1,200 left at 4:45 p.m. for Inchon. There they will board trains for holding areas in the Yongdong area.

They will be available for the first day of the exchange on Aug. 5.

Defense Counsel Says Sampsons Illegally Held

Duncan Murder Hearing Opens

Special to The Times

The right to hold a preliminary hearing into the murder of Chew Deb, 81-year-old Duncan Chinese resident, three years ago, was challenged this morning in Duncan court house by defense counsel Thomas Hurley.

Hurley is defending Cecil Christopher Sampson, 30 and his wife, Edna, 26, charged jointly with the murder of Deb. He told the court that the treaty signed in 1794 between Great Britain and the U.S.A. made the defendants of aborigines international citizens, and they still reserve their right to go north or south of the 49th parallel.

On this basis he questioned the right of G. A. Tisdall, police magistrate, to go ahead with the preliminary hearing.

"SHANGHAIED?"

The defendant's counsel asked: "How did the Sampsons get up here? As far as I am concerned they may have been kidnapped up here or shanghaied."

Mr. Hurley told the court that the preliminary hearing "may lead to an international incident" due to the Sampsons being brought to Canada for trial. He told the court the secretary of the United States may intervene.

Magistrate Tisdall ruled that the hearing would continue.

During the morning session, seven witnesses were called by the prosecutor for the Crown, David R. Williams. There are still eight more to be called.

First witness was Dr. J. J. Tassin, who said that he was called to attend Chew Deb. When he arrived at the deceased's shack, half a mile south of the Island Highway, he found the Chinese lying on the ground in a pool of blood.

Dr. Tassin said that he was in a very shocked condition and had lacerations to the head and eyes with little pulse and shallow breathing. Chew Deb was then taken by ambulance to King's Daughters' Hospital, where he died July 1, 1950.

Dr. Tassin, who carried out post mortem said that death was due to internal and external injuries, shock and exposure. Chew Deb regained consciousness for only a short while and his only word was "medicine."

J. M. Jones, formerly of the RCMP attached to Duncan, said that he carried out the investigation into the murder of the deceased.

Other witnesses heard during the morning were F. McNab, a friend of the deceased; Constable G. A. Phillips, Constable F. G. Kilner and Constable D. G. Thompson.

Throughout the morning session, the two accused listened carefully to each witness, both sharing the same prisoner's box.

RUMOR UNFOUNDED

Polygamy Non-Existent In Creston Say RCMP

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today residents of Creston, B.C., have been given a clean sheet in connection with reports that polygamy was being practiced in the interior mining town.

A headquarters spokesman said American reports that renegade Mormons were practicing polygamy were false. The official said a thorough check was made.

"Creston's residents are not living in sin," he added, "the reports are false."

The investigation came after Arizona reports declared that renegade Mormons were finding refuge at Creston with some of their several wives and dozens of children.

But the RCMP said they found no evidence of polygamy and the Creston case "is now closed."

SHORT CREEK, Ariz. (UP)—Two superior judges begin hearings today to decide the fate of teenage wives and children swept up in a raid on this polygamous colony of Apostate Mormons.

A procession of polygamous wives and their children were to appear before Superior Judges Lorna Lockwood and J. W. Faulkner in the tiny hamlet's schoolhouse. The hearings will last through Saturday.

It was indicated most of the children will be separated from their mothers and placed in carefully-selected Mormon families throughout the state.

A 24-year-old Esquimalt boy is reported as a mild case. A young man, also from Esquimalt, has been admitted to isolation as a suspect.

Also listed as a suspect is an eight-year-old boy from Sidney.

The total for Saanich to date is eight. City cases stand at two and Esquimalt one. These figures do not include "suspects" or "probables," only confirmed cases.

Individual homes are quarantined.

Scores Arrested For Taking Food

Communists Seek to Scare East Germans Away From U.S. Relief; Red Purge Reported

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police arrested scores of East Germans who accepted gifts of Western food today but they failed to check the hungry throngs surging through the Iron Curtain.

The biggest crowds yet jammed West Berlin's food relief centres on the third day of the big American-financed relief program which has put the spotlight on food shortages in the restive Soviet occupation zone.

The Communists also harassed but did not halt the movement of food to West Berlin by truck. Other food arrived by plane.

Officials estimated 150,000 food packages would be given away today in addition to the 250,000 already handed out in the first two days.

Communist police began a campaign of arrests and threats to sabotage the program by scaring the East Germans away.

They arrested scores who returned to East Berlin laden with food. Thirty arrests were reported at one border crossing point alone.

The identity cards so important in any Communist police state were taken away from the arrested persons and held by the police, the West Berlin newspaper Der Kurier reported.

The first truckload of American food crossed the Soviet zone and finally reached West Berlin after Communist border guards delayed it at both ends of the isolated city's highway link to the west.

A vast widening in the purge of the rebellion-beset Communist party in East Germany was reported today by the West Berlin press.

The Socialist newspaper Telegram reported that 200 special commissions have been set up to investigate the conduct of all party members during the June rebellion.

Another West Berlin paper, Der Tag, reported that 30 officials in the secret police have been arrested since that group's chief, Wilhelm Zaisser, was kicked out of his job last week.

The paper added that one secret police official in Erfurt committed suicide to avoid arrest.

The Communist press published for the first time an address last week-end by East German Premier Otto Grotewohl in which he backhandedly revealed the great extent of the June riots, in which hundreds were killed and thousands arrested.

Denying the majority of the East Germans rose against his government, Grotewohl insisted "only" 272 communities were in revolt.

'BRUCH . . . OMITTED PURPOSELY'

Pastor's Pamphlet Prompts Heckling at Socred Meeting

A pamphlet circulated by a Victoria minister calling for support of the Social Credit party by religious leaders sparked the first explosion Tuesday night in a hitherto quiet federal election campaign here.

The pamphlet, authored by Rev. J. W. Ruthven, was questioned from the floor of a Socred election meeting at Oak Bay.

Platform speakers were B.C. Attorney-General R. W. Bonner, Mines, Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers, and Victoria federal candidate, Waldo Skilling.

Raising the question of the pamphlet from the floor of the 200-person meeting were Bruce Young, local editor of a farm publication and city businessman, Frank Partridge.

Asked by Mr. Young whether he agreed with the contention of the pamphlet that only the Socreds have "Godly" candidates, Mr. Skilling replied:

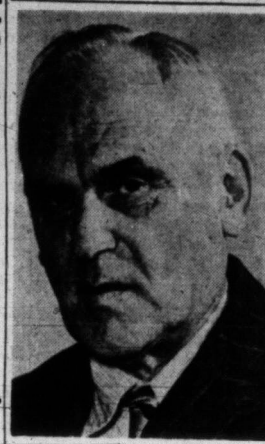

"I read the article. As long as we have free press, free religion and free speech it is the perogative of any person to express himself in print and I don't feel I should criticize."

"Does he repudiate it or not?" cried Mr. Partridge to chairman Arthur Knapp.

"Why should I repudiate any sincere statement by any person?" returned Mr. Skilling.

HIS LAST ELECTION?

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, a Liberal cabinet minister for 18 years whom Time Magazine called "the man who has contributed most to Canada's surge of industry and prosperity," is thinking of quitting political life.

Speaking at Club Sirocco Tuesday night, the 67-year-old minister of trade and commerce and minister of defense production said: "I'm getting near the end of my service."

He noted this was his fifth election campaign and suggested: "I think perhaps this will be my last."

What are the prospects of a general election this fall? Almost none, the source said.

"The government has a lot of work it wants to get finished," he explained.

Howe Praises National Economy

Trade Minister Claims Liberals Proved Ability to Give Continuing Prosperity

Canada's economic position has never been better, Trade and Commerce Minister C. D. Howe told an audience of more than 300 at a Liberal rally at Club Sirocco Tuesday night.

Productivity, employment and wages are at an all-time peak; things are on the upswing, and the picture for the future has never been rosier, the veteran cabinet minister proclaimed.

Mr. Howe, who called himself "no campaign orator," talked for little more than half an hour. Speaking forcefully but without flourishes, he said: "All I claim for the Liberal party is that we've demonstrated an ability to make Canada prosperous and keep Canada prosperous."

"I'm very proud of the fact that each year I've been in the government, each year has been a better year—a more prosperous one—than the previous one. And that's all the promise the Liberal party makes to you now—that each member will do his utmost to make every year a better year than the one which preceded it."

REPLIES TO PC's

Mr. Howe dealt largely with charges and boasts of the Progressive Conservative party. He dealt with main criticisms categorically.

He answered those who speak of depression by pointing out total value of Canada's production last year came to a new peak of $23,000,000,000. Estimates for this year, he said, indicated the value of everything produced would hit $24,000,000,000 despite lower prices for some metals.

He said farming, mining, fishing and lumbering were still healthy industries and the returns from these "very satisfactory."

Rebutting charges that Canada's position as a trading nation was shaky, he said, Canada's business with the UK and Commonwealth nations was just under $1,000,000,000.

Mr. Howe explained: "The old multi-lateral system of trading which we used to know has broken down. It's necessary now to balance trade

Taft's Condition 'Somewhat Improved'

NEW YORK (UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft was reported "somewhat improved" today after eating a good breakfast at New York hospital.

The Ohio Republican who was reported in unsatisfactory condition Tuesday "had a more restful night," his physician reported.

Members of the Taft family were summoned to the senator's bedside as his condition, following abdominal surgery July 8, took a turn for the worse Tuesday. One of his sons, William Howard Taft III, was summoned from Ireland today to join his mother and brothers at the hospital.

FROM THE HUSTINGS

"A really effective party machine could elect a dead cat."

—Maj. A. H. Jukes, Ind. candidate for Victoria.

"The only barriers George Drew will ever break down are the sound barriers."

—L. B. Pearson, quoted by C. D. Howe.
